EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

"A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" means free trade.

DEMOCRACY, driven to the wall, resorts to lies and forgery. Such is Democracy.

"A tariff for revenue only" says the Democratic platform.

THE nail could not be hit more fairly on the head than in the folowing extract from the Utica Herald: "Too much confidence is as bad as too little. The Democrats have none; let us see that we do not have too much."

DEMOCRATS are urging mechanics and laboring men to rally around the banner of Hancock and "a tariff for revenue only."

WORKINGMAN, when a Democrat offers you a copy of the forged letter on the Chinese question resent the insult to your intelligence and self-respect with the toe of your boot. And when a lying Democratic newspaper comes to you endorsing the forgery, throw it to the dogs It is worthy only of your contempt.

"A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" would be the "death warrant" of the manufacturing and business interests of the country.

IT SEEMS that the third deliverance on the tariff, which we were hoping would be issued from Governor's Island, was pretty nearly given to the public; but it unfortunately strangled soon after its birth by the ruthless Democratic managers who thought that "General Hancock had better adopt the New York Sun's suggestion of returning his quill to the goose to which it originally belonged."

"A tariff for revenue only" and the present prosperous condition of the country would soon be among the things of the past.

THE glass industry of Pittsburgh has already experienced the beneficial effects of the Republican victory in Indiany and Ohio. For some weeks before the election there was a steady falling off in orders at all the tableware factories, but as soon as the result in the October elections became known, business began to liven up, and every one of the houses now have more orders coming than they can fill.

IN the Presidential campaign of 1844, "POLK, DALLAS, SHAM AND THE TARIFF OF 1842" was emblazoned on the Democratic banners throughout the land. That tariff act was wiped out of existence by the casting vote of Geo. M. Dallas, the Democratic Vice President.

SEVERAL Democratic orators in this vicinity have been telling their audiences that Pennsylvania would surely go for Hancock in November. And so she will "go for" him with a vengeance. In the great battle of the second of November Pennsylvania will show the Democrats that she can't be fooled with lies and forgeries. Oh, yes, the Old Keystone will "go for" Hancock, and what there is left of him after the election won't fill a cartridge box.

IF you desire "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" vote for Hancock.

THE Police Board of New York have determined upon vigorous efforts to prevent the pollution of the ballot-box, and it is quite certain that in no other quarter is there a finer field for the display of energy in that respect. If they shall find some Hercules to clean out that Augean stable, and reduce the actual Democratic count to an honest figure, we have an idea that that Hercules might afterward be hired out at a profit for a similar task in other quarters we could name. Hunt up that Hercules, gentlemen, without delay. There's millions in it.

BOLD FORGERY.

The Democracy's Forlorn Hope.

Last Villainous but Clumsy Attack on Gen. Garfield.

THE LIE NAILED.

Gen. Garfield's Denunciation of the Alleged Morey Letter.

The Fullest and most Complete Proofs of the Forgery.

The Democratic press of the country, at the command of Chairman Barnum, have given the fullest publication to the following letter which they assert was written by General Garfield on Jan. 23, 1880, to one H. L. Morey, of Linn, Mass. Following is the alleged letter:

[PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL.]

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23, '80.

DEAR SIR: Yours in relation to the Chinese problem came duly to hand.

I take it that the question of employes is only a question of private and corporative economy, and individuals or corporations have the right to buy labor where they can get it cheapest.

We have a treaty with the Chinese Government which should be religiously kept until its provisions are abrogated by the action of the General Government, and I am not prepared to say that it should be abrogated until our great manufacturing interests are conserved in the matter of labor. Very truly yours,

J. A. GARFIELD.

H. L. MOREY, Employers' Union, Lynn, Mass.

Proofs of the Forgery.

As soon as the above letter was made public Marshall Jewell, chairman of Republican committee, telegraphed the text of the letter to General Garfield. In reply he received the following dispatch:

MENTOR, O., Oct. 22.

To the Hon. M. Jewell and the Hon. S. W. Dorsey:

I will not break the rule I have adopted by making public reply to campaign lies, but I authorize you to denounce the so-called Morey letter as a bald forgery, both in its language and sentiment. Until its publication I never heard of the existence of the "Employers' Union" of Lynn, Mass., nor of such a person as H. L. Morey.

J. A. GARFIELD.

On the following day, General Garfield telegraphed the following:

Explicit Denial.

MENTOR, O., Oct. 23, 1880.

To the Hon. Marshall Jewell:

Your telegram of this afternoon is received. Publish my dispatch of last evening, if you think best. Within the last hour the mail has brought me the lithographic copy of the forged letter. It is the work of some clumsy villian who cannot spell nor write English, nor imitate my handwriting. Every honest and manly Democrat in America who is familiar with my handwriting will denounce the letter at sight. Put the case into the hands of the ablest detectives at once, and hunt the rascal down. J. A. GARFIELD.

Gen. Garfield's Explicit Denial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mr. Jewell, to-day, received the following letter from General Garfield:

MENTOR, O., Oct. 23.

Hon. Marshal Jewell, Chairman Republican National Committee, 241 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR—In my dispatches of yesterday and this evening (which are also sent you by mail) I have denounced the Morey letter as a base forgery. Its stupid and brutal sentiments I never expressed or entertained. The lithographic copy shows a very clumsy attempt to imitate my penmanship and signature. Any who are familiar with my handwriting will instantly see that the letter is spurious.

Very truly yours,

J. A. GARFIELD.

More Proofs of Forgery.

The following telegram from the postmaster at Washington was promptly published:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23.

The Hon. Marshal Jewell:

The New York Truth publishes what purports to be a fac simile of a letter alleged to have been written by General Garfield to one H. L. Morey on the Chinese question, together with the envelope in which it should have been inclosed. That the whole thing is a manufactured, bald and villainous fraud the following facts will clearly show: No such canceling stamp as is shown on the envelope was in use in the Washington postoffice on the 23d of January, the date the letter is claimed to have been mailed. An entire new set of canceling stamps was placed in this office on the 13th of April. The Truth fac simile is a very good representation of the new stamp, but it is totally unlike the one in use in this office on the 23d of January, the old one being made of rubber and the new one of steel, and very unlike in their arrangement. This shows conclusively that the whole matter is an unmitigated forgery, for which the authors should be sent to the penitentiary.

D. B. AINGER,
Postmaster, Washington, D. C.

The Forgery Further Frustrated.

The most positive proofs have been obtained at Lynn, Mass., that no such man as H. L. Morey ever lived there; that there never was such an organization at Linn called the "Employers Union."

The most prominent manufacturers of Lynn, representing a capital in business of $9,000,000, have signed a card declaring there is not, and has not been, any organization there called the "Employers Union;" that no such man as H. L. Morey ever lived or was employed in Lynn. The proof of the forgery is made complete in the following card:

The Lynn Manufacturers' Cumulative Proof.

The undersigned shoe manufacturers of this city hereby state that there never was any organization or association called the Employers' Union, and we do not know any man by the name of H. L. Morey, who was ever employed by us or a resident of this city.

Samuel M. Butler, J. Shaw & Bros., C. S. Sweetzer & Co., Bubier Bros., S. J. Hollis, C. A. Coffin & Co., Keene Brothers, Charles B. Tebbetts, B. F. Spinney & Co., B. H. Daakes & Co., Joseph Davis & Co., Luth. H. Johnson & Co., A. F. Breed, Jerome Ingalls, C. D. Pecker & Co., Morgan & Dore, F. W. Breed.

LYNN, MASS., October 21, 1880.

The above signatures were obtained in less than an hour on October 23d, and had there been more time it is believed the signature of every manufacturer in the place could have been secured.

It having been stated that H. L. Morey died recently, and that the letter was found among his effects, it has been ascertained that no male person by the name of Morey has for several years lived in Lynn, and that the death of such a person has not been recorded at any time during the present year at least. There was no organization of any kind of employers at the date of the alleged letter—January 23, 1880. In 1877–8 during the Crispin troubles, twenty-five or more manufacturers combined for self-protection, but the organization adopted no name and ceased to exist in March, 1878, when the labor troubles were adjusted. The employers have held no meeting since.

We learn that the managers of the Democratic party in this county are distributing posters containing the forged letter. This will do them no good. It will deceive or hoodwink nobody. It is the dying effort of the dismayed and already defeated Democracy. It is far weaker than the 329 dodge. If any one doubts General Garfield's views on the Chinese question, we refer him to the General's letter of acceptance.

EVEN little Delaware is interested in the maintenance of the protective system, and if the Republicans work hard and make the most of their opportunities, they ought to be able to whittle down the Democratic majority to a very small figure. It is not safe to be sanguine in such a campaign as the present, or we should say that there is just a chance of securing the electoral vote of the State for Garfield and Arthur. But putting that remote contingency out of the question, we shall have cause for satisfaction if a substantial reduction can be made in the Democratic vote.

AN HONEST STATEMENT.

The Question Fairly Stated by a Democratic Free Trade Journal.

Let nobody be deceived. If the Democrats carry the election they will change and revise the tariff; they will lower many duties which are now high, they will abolish many duties which now bring in little or no revenue. They will repeal the navigation laws and enable our merchants to buy ships where they can buy them most advantageously, and they will refuse subsidies to ocean steamer lines and to railroads. If the Republicans carry the election they will keep the revenue laws as they are; they will refuse "free ships" and will grant extensive subsidies to ocean steamer lines as a way of increasing our foreign commerce.

This is the exact truth about this matter. Whoever wants to see the tariff maintained, whoever wants to see the navigation laws unchanged, ought to vote the Republican ticket, General Hancock's letter notwithstanding. If any workingman anywhere believes that it would injure him or his enterprise to alter the tariff at this time he should vote the Republican ticket, no matter what sort of contradictory appeal are made to him at this late day in the canvass by Messrs. Wells, Hewitt, Bayard and company.—N. Y. Herald.

IF you desire a continuance of the present prosperous condition of the country, vote against the party that would give you "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

Shame!

The Democrats, driven from one strait to another and from every defence they have sought, have at last resorted to the vilest and meanest conduct that it is possible for the human heart to conceive of. They are guilty of forgery. They have forged a letter and signed James A. Garfield's name to it, upon the question of cheap Chinese labor.

The man who circulates a forgery is an endorser of the crime, and as guilty as he who committed it. The Democratic Watchman circulated this forgery, knowing and believing it to be a forgery, and in the eyes of honest men is as guilty of the crime as the author of it.

The wrong is mendacious in the broadest sense; it is intended to play upon the credulity of honest men, and it trifles with the highest privileges of the American citizen. Any man wilfully guilty of such a crime towards his neighbor is more cowardly and more greatly to be despised, more dangerous to society as a citizen, than thousands now in the penitentiary.

MERCHANTS and business men generally should ponder well how it will effect them if "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" should become the law of the land.

IT is announced that the National Republican Committee intends to impress upon the State committees the importance of making perfectly sure that all the candidates on the Republican electoral ticket are eligible to hold the office for which they have been nominated. This is most essential. The eligibility of every electoral candidate should be ascertained beyond the reach of doubt or suspicion, so that there may be no room for quibbling at the last moment. We may be sure that the Democrats would find out any weak spot that had been overlooked. The Constitution provides that no person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector. There ought to be no difficulty in complying with that provision. It is plain enough.

IF you desire, workingmen, to have a good compensation for your labor, you cannot support a party that would give you "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

A STUPID FORGERY is what the next President of the United States pronounces the Morey letter.

HANCOCK'S death warrant—"a solid South," and "a tariff for revenue only."

The Republican Candidates.

THOMAS H. MURRAY, ESQ.

The Republicans of this district have nominated for Congress the man whose name is at the head of this article, a man who is known at home and abroad as a pure man, an earnest christian. The Republican, the Democratic organ of Clearfield county, in speaking of Mr. Murray, says "he is a good lawyer and a number one platform lecturer, and makes himself useful to his neighbors as a lawyer, lecturer and Sunday-school teacher." There is no better compliment could be bestowed upon our candidate than this tribute from a paper, that would if it could, without fear of successful contradiction, have said something to injure his cause and advance the claims of his opponent.

Mr. Murray is a member of the Methodist church, an earnest worker in the cause of Christ, as he is in every good cause. The people of this district would be honored in honoring him. He will be a credit to our district in Congress, and we hope every Republican will do all he can to secure his election. There are many non-partizan voters who desire the election of good men to office who have expressed their determination to work and vote for Mr. Murray. The vote in the district will be close, and the prospect of the election of the Republican candidate for Congress is very flattering. It becomes the absolute duty of every Republican, therefore, to do all he can for Mr. Murray. Vote early, and then hurry your neighbor up to vote, and this district shall be represented in the next Congress by Thomas H. Murray, as good a Republican as there is in the State.

JOHN P. HARRIS.

The subject of this article, whose name appears at its head, is a candidate for the Legislature, one of the most popular men we have and perhaps as well known to all our people as any man in the county. He has not figured in politics in the past and would not now only at the earnest solicitation of many men of all parties who desire to see Centre county represented by one of our best representative men. He has for years been cashier of the First National Bank, and by his fair dealing in that position, won hosts of friends. He has been a prudent business man, successful, to a degree, above the average. This has given him the means to do great good, an opportunity which he has improved, as many a poor man can testify. Many a man that would have come to grief during our late severe panic has been saved and is now on the high road to prosperity through the kindness of the man who might have made money out of his misfortune but had not the heart to do it. John P. Harris is one of the most honorable business men in the county; one of the best men in the county to represent the great labor, farming, and business interests of this section at Harrisburg, and should receive the votes of all men who have the real interests of our people at heart. A vote for Harris is a vote for the best interest of Centre county, for its furnaces, its mills, its farming industry, its labor, and every other interest that tends to our fuller development, our greater prosperity. Vote for John P. Harris.

W. J. THOMPSON.

W. J. Thompson, one of the Republican candidates for Legislature, is a merchant, residing and doing business at Potters Mills. We have no personal acquaintance with the gentleman, nor have we seen him since his nomination; but we learn that he is very popular among his neighbors, and will receive a great many votes from many friends not of his political party. He is a true Republican, an able man, a good citizen, and if elected, will serve the county ably and fearlessly at Harrisburg. The voters of Centre county will reflect credit upon themselves by electing him. Without saying anything to the detriment of either of his political opponents, we can safely say he is their superior in intelligence, morality and virtue.

SYLVESTER D. RAY.

Our candidate for District Attorney, Sylvester D. Ray, is a young lawyer of great promise. He was born in this county, of poor parents, struggled against great difficulties to obtain an education going to school, and when out of means, working on a farm, driving team or breaking stone, to earn the money to purchase books. He is a graduate of the State College, having worked his own way through that institution, receiving no help from anyone. Being a self-made man he is entitled on that account to the good will of all who desire to reward real merit. If elected to the office for which he is nominated by the Republican party, he will discharge the duties with ability and fidelity. He is a faithful worker in the Republican party, and should receive the full vote of his party. He has many friends, not of the Republican faith, who will vote for him because they know him to be an honest, upright, industrious fellow, who will make a good District Attorney. Vote for Sylvester D. Ray.

JOSEPH DEVLING.

Joseph Devling, Republican candidate for County Surveyor, is known to the voters. Having been a candidate for this office for years, he has performed the duties of the position with satisfaction to all, and will again be elected without a doubt. Vote for Joseph Devling for County Surveyor.

Whistling to Keep Their Courage Up.

It is a Democratic notion that things can be patched up in Indiana so that a fight may be made for a part of the electoral vote of that State, by fusion with the Greenback men, with some possibility of success. But the Republicans of other States have no fear. They have seen a magnificent organization in Indiana win an unprecedented victory, and they know that the colossal unpopularity of Mr. English casts into the shade any ill feeling that existed toward Mr. Landers. The Republicans of Indiana are not asleep, and they are not going to be beaten; and the only object of holding out new hopes to the Democrats is to encourage them in other States.

The stories of a still hunt in Ohio belong in the same class. The State is to be won by the Democrats when the baby gets the moon for which he eagerly reaches, and not before. General Garfield is much stronger, according to all testimony by competent Ohio men, than the late State ticket, and the discouragement and disorganization of the Democrats will cost them many votes. Indeed, it is enough to observe that the only promises of Democratic success in November, in Ohio or Indiana, come from the brainless and conscienceless leaders who made their followers believe that Democratic victory there was absolutely certain in October.

The Presidential election will be decided, beyond all question, when the electoral vote of New York has been cast for General Garfield. Every day the prospect of that result in New York grows brighter, and yet it would be extreme folly to neglect any effort. There will be a heavy Democratic vote in New York and Brooklyn, although the strong feeling among the workingmen on the tariff question, and the peculiar Democratic nomination for Mayor, will cost that party many votes. Giving it all that it can hope for, there will still be a heavy Republican majority in that State, if every man does his duty for the good cause. Disgust at General Hancock's epistolary vagaries has a great effect and disgust at the huckstering of the rings for the control of that great city will also influence many votes. It is not a time to indulge in over-confident inaction. But determined effort will win a certain and complete victory.

Poetry.

The Tumble.

No human being who saw the sight
But felt a shudder of pale affright.
He sat in a window three stories high,
A little baby with no one nigh.
A stranger saw him and stopped to stare;
A crowd soon gathered to watch him there.

A gleam, a flutter! In airy flight
Came past the window a butterfly bright.
From fields of clover and perfumed air,
Wayfaring insect, what brought you there?
The baby saw it, and eagerly
Reached out to catch it, crowing with glee.

With fat, pink fingers reached out—and fell!
The awful horror no tongue can tell,
Poor little baby, so sweet and bright!
Pale faces quivered and lips grew white;
Weak women fainted and strong men grew weak—
Uprose one woman's heart-piercing shriek.

Hurrah for the awning! Upon the fly
It caught the youngster and tossed him high.
The bounce prodigious made the baby scowl;
He caught his breath, sir, and set up a howl.
All blessed the awning that had no flaw—
But a madder baby you never saw.

Art and Cake.

BY R. K. MUNKITTRICK.

"Yesterday the Ladies' Art Association had its fourteenth annual opening. After various papers were read and resolutions adopted, there was a service of cake, designed exquisitely and with all regard to effect in form and color."

At Rutherford the other day
The Ladies' Art Associa-
Tion met for business and for play,
And making laws effective;
Miss Johnson made, with fairy wiles,
A speech on "leaf-impression tiles"
And "low relief." But all the smiles
Were on the cake's perspective.

She spoke of "decorative art,"
The master's greatest, who depart-
Ed long ago, and no one start-
Ed home as she waxed duller;
They marked that cake, with feeling new,
Their grosser natures all subdue,
Exquisitely arranged as to Effect it from the color.

Then Mrs. Henry Joseph Shay,
The President, arose to say
Some pretty things of Meissonier;
None offered her resistence,
But soon a maid with lilac eyes
Said: "Ah, that cake I'd dearly prize
With all its glows of Tuscan skies
And mellow dreamy distance."

Ah, then they talked no more of art,
For everybody made a start
To get a piece of cake; my heart!
What pleasant occupation
Fell then unto the fair and tall,
Who flittered through that banquet hall
And ate that cake, digesting all
Its moral decoration.

Our Story Teller.

A Hero's Reward.

'It is cold enough to freeze the heart out of a miser and make the white bear dance for joy,' grumbled Tom Orton, as he looked out of the window upon the snow-cumbered streets. 'How I wish I could stay at home to night and take care of you and the babies, Jenny. And I would only for—'

He thought of how much poverty was pinching them, and would not sadden the hearts of those he loved by mentioning it.

'Only for what Tom?' asked his wife from the bed, where, ill herself, she was taking care of their two sick children,

'Only that they will be wanting me,' he replied. 'You know it is Christmass Eve, and we have gotten up an extra entertainment.'

"Yes, Tom, and a sorry day for us, now that I am sick, and the children wanting medicine, and,' but she could not bear to add a feather's weight to his load—'and so much depends upon you.'

'I know,' he replied, hastily brushing moisture from his eyes and striving to conceal his anxiety; 'but I am well and strong, Jenny, and the winter is nearly over, and you will all be well again.'

'But if anything should happen you?' she questioned with a heavy sigh.

'Do you think there is much danger,' he said; repressing a sob as he thought how desperate would be their situation—of the rent due, the scanty store of provisions, the little of fuel remaining, the more than a month of hard winter yet before them, the need of a family that a poor man learns by the most bitter experience.

'But there is, dear Tom. No one is ever safe living the life you do. There are so many chances for an accident.'

'Do not fear; I will take care of myself—will not run any extra risks, and as I have nothing to do in the latter part, will be home early.'

He stepped to the bedside, drew the cover more closely about his wife and children, kissed them, put the coal in the stove, though every lump was a golden ducat to a Shylock in his situation, attending to every thing possible for their comfort, and prepared to face the cold and go to his nightly employment. Yet an uncommon spell seemed to claim him. He lingered, fidgeted, and glanced uneasily at the clock.

'Is it not time you were off, Tom?' questioned his wife. 'You know it is quite a walk.'

'Yes, Jenny, but somehow I don't feel like leaving you alone.'

'Oh, I'm used to staying alone;' and she was, poor thing. 'And you said you would be home early.'

'Yes, yes.'

An active, sober man was he and a skilled performer. He had been trained to the profession from childhood—knew no other, and under ordinary circumstance could easily keep his head above water. But the renting season closed unexpectedly early, the winter was hard, money was tight, and every place of amusement suffered in consequence. To these things were added sickness; and brave hearted as he was, he could not suppress a shiver of anxiety as the future stared him in the face.

He passed along the narrow street, and through more pretentious ones—passed by the houses of millionaires and entered Broadway. That, at least, was brilliant and gay, as if there was nothing of poverty or human suffering in the world—as if there never was to be any awakening from a golden dream of luxury and pleasure.

'Ah! thoughtless wealth and fashion,' he murmured, bitterly, as he saw fur-clad forms and pampered steeds and richly mounted harness and gilded sleighs, and costly robes dash along, "how much you will have to answer for in the day of final reckoning, for neglecting your poor, toiling, suffering brothers and sisters.'

But he had no time to linger—the clock in the window told that, and with a sigh that his wife and little ones should not have their quota of good tillings in this world, he passed on.

Suddenly a confused cry—a wild tumult—the drawing away of teams on either side, or dashing into cross streets—startled him, and he knew something unusual was taking place. Then came the shout of 'runaway! runaway!' and he felt that life or property, or both, were being whirled on to destruction.

'Are you mad? Do you want to be killed?' hurriedly asked many, as they ran to places of safety and he remained standing on the curbstone.

He gave no heed to the warning. He had braved death far too often to shrink from it in any event, and most certainly when at such a distance. His eyes were fixed up the street upon a team of noble beys that were tearing along, mad with fright and surging the sleigh from side to side—were running at their utmost speed, each striving to outdo the other, straining every nerve—were running away driverless. Had that been all, he would not have troubled himself, deep as was his affections for blooded steeds, for he was not at the moment particularly in sympathy with wealth. It was quite another matter that chained him.

At the first outcry he had sprung to and half climbed a lamp-post, and so obtained a clearer view—one that thrilled his heart to the very core, caused his breath to be more deeply drawn and his pulse to momentarily cease to beat.

In the sleigh was a young and beautiful woman, pale with terror, and clasping two lovely children to her breast. Orton thought of his Jenny and their little ones, and resolved to save them. The impulse was noble, but how was it to be accomplished? Far beyond any human control were the frantic horses. To attempt to seize reins as they dashed past and to stop them would be madness—would be to be dragged down and trampled to death. He saw this—saw that the course of the horses would bring them directly upon him, and though the crowd furiously warned him of his danger, he stirred not, only braced muscles and nerves and set his teeth with determination.

'My God!' exclaimed a man, who, bolder than the rest, sprang forward, grappled and would have dragged him away. 'You will be instantly killed!'

Tom Orton shook him off just as the horses reached him, watched his opportunity, seized upon the harness as they were sweeping past, sprung lightly upon the back of the nearest horse, grasping the reins, and turning to the affrighted woman and screaming children, shouted:

'Keep quiet! I will save you!'

And save them he did. Before a block had been traversed the horses were made to realize that he was their master, and the curb cutting deeply into their mouths brought them to a standstill.

The crowd cheered lustily, the police assisted the woman and children out and carried them to a neighboring store, and as soon as the former had in a measure recovered her senses, she asked for her preserver that she might thank and reward him. But he was not to be found. All that could be learned was, that as soon as the trembling steeds had been taken charge of by others, he disappeared.

'Who could it have been?' questioned the lady, with still ghastly face and bloodless lips.

'Cannot say,' answered a policeman, constituting himself spoksman; but he was a brave fellow anyhow. I would not have taken the risk he did for thousands.'

'A brave fellow indeed,' was the response; 'and I would give very much to know his name and where he is to be found.'

So would the policeman, that something of the glory might attach to himself. But the lady departed homeward without obtaining the desired information, and the sensitiveness of Tom Orton caused him to lose the one opportunity of his life to have risen above iron-handed poverty.

Meanwhile he was hurrying to business, more time had been occupied in the rescue than he thought possible, and though applause was dear to him (as to all), yet he could not stay to listen and as for risking his life for money, he had not even dreamed of such a thing.

Out of breath he dashed into the dressing-room, and was received with reproof for being late.

'Could not help it,' he replied; 'I saw a pair of fiery horses running away with a sleigh and a woman and two children; thought of my Jenny and children and had to stop and save them.'

He told his story very briefly and modestly while getting ready; did not seem to fancy he had done anything wonderful, and soon was dashing down the arena upon a spirited steed 'charming the world with wondrous horsemanship.'

The audience applauded the echo, and, carried away by the excitement, he rashly determined to execute his most daring acts, those given only upon the greatest occasions, forgetting that the horse he rode had not been trained to him—was young and wild.

The result was soon painfully apparent. Though some were accomplished in safety, yet when he attempted leaping over a banner the fluttering frightened the horse, he bolted suddenly and Tom Orton was hurled heavily to the ground!

He endeavored to rise and make light of pain, but a strange sickness came over him, the lights flickered and grew dim, he gasped for air, and knew nothing more until some-what revived in the dressing-room, he heard familiar voices.

'O, God! what shall become of Jenny and the babies,' he gasped, faintly. 'I am done for, and—and—' his tears and sobs choked him.

'Do hot fear for them, Tom,' said a dozen hearty voices, and as many grasped his hands as could obtain hold, 'we will see that you are taken care of.'

Many senselessly and carelessly condemn the ring and the stage, but in the law of want and suffering their hearts shine upon the surface, and such charity is shown that none upon the earth is brighter. Ah! if all humanity was true as the brother and sister-hood, whose lives are given for the amusement and instruction of others, there would be far less of trial and suffering in the world. It is a charity that lasts beyond even the sad scenes at the 'Little Church Around the Corner,' and is blessed by widow and orphan.

'Thanks, thanks,' murmured the injured man. 'But tell me the worst.'

'A broken leg is all that appears serious,' answers a gray-headed man—a strange physician who had been summoned. 'Though I cannot account for the marks upon your side, my man.'

'Probably he hurt himself when he stopped the runaway horse,' was suggested, and the story told.

'Humph! A very dangerous business—next to foolhardy; not one in ten thousand would have escaped alive,' replied the physcian, with pressed lips and flashing eyes. 'Well, all that can be done now is to get him home. Then I will make a more minute examination.'

Very tenderly was the noble-hearted fellow taken to his humble abode; the scene, when he was laid upon the bed, side by side with his sick wife and children, caused every eye to overflow with tears.

'Tom, dear Tom,' said Jenny, as well as she could for her pitiful sobbing, 'what will become of us—of the children? We will starve and die together.'

'Not while we have hands,' replied his associates, and every heart touched and every arm nerved to the utmost toward relief.

They all looked around anxiously for the physician—had supposed he had accompanied them. But he was not to be seen, and their grumbling became loud and deep.

'I can bear anything,' said Tom, 'but for you, Jennie, and the children,' and he entirely broke down.

'And I could curse the doctor for an unfeeling wretch,' blurted out one of the most passionate. 'But it is ever thus. We give our lives freely to please the public, and when anything happens they are nothing for us.'

Tom groaned heavily. The sound woke his little girl. She raised up in bed, strained her eyes, clapped her tiny hands and shouted, in true childish glee and wonder.

'Mamma! papa! See! see! An angel!'

All eyes were turned in the direction pointed, and in the doorway stood a beautiful woman, leaning upon the arm of the physician!

Yes; an angel had come to them. Tom Orton had risked his life to save that of the daughter of Dr. Armitage and his grandchildren, and the merest chance had given them the knowledge of who it was.

But never was an equestrian feat better rewarded, and never a more charitable angel appeared upon earth, even upon the day when, alike upon the hill-top and valley it proclaimed: 'Peace upon the earth and good will to men.'

A Few Epigrams.

A few epigrams from recent speeches of Southern Democrats, and extracts from late Southern newspapers, would look well on the banners that are carried about by the members of that party. Let us suggest a few:

'Put on your red shirts, and let the ride begin.'—Abbeville (S. C.) Sentinel.

'Consider what Lee and Jackson would do if they were alive.'—Wade Hampton.

'This Confederate House is not friendly to the Union soldier.—Ryan of Pennsylvania.

'With a rebel General at the head of the Senate Committee on Pensions, there would be no use pressing your bill.'—Beltzhoover.

'We must have one party, and that the Democratic party.'—Richmond Dispatch.

'Let the Mississippi plan be adopted throughout the South.'—Senator Butler.

'The North pays the taxes, but what do we care if it does.'—Senator Vance.

'Whatever the character of the voting, the Democratic candidates are sure to be on the top when the counting is finished.'—Charleston News and Courier.

'The negro will be slaves again or cease to exist.'—Meridian Mercury.

'No true Southerner ever asked pardon for bearing Confederate arms.'—J. R. Chalmers.

Local Small Talk.

—There were over seventy deaths in Johnstown from dyptheria alone during the month of September.

—Anybody who uses leaves for bedding purposes in the winter can gather a harvest on Allegheny street just now.

—Owners of horse flesh are not sorry that the epizootic has been a failure in this place thus far. We guess they need have no serious alarm.

—The frequent showers we have been having during the past few days accompanied by changable winds, suggests April rather than fall weather.

—Monte Ward, of this place, pitcher for the Providence base ball club, has been engaged by the Metropolitan club of New York for the balance of the season.

—From now until election business will not be remarkably brisk in Bellefonte. Politics, and the November result, is the engrossing subject with everybody now.

—Wild turkeys are reported to be numerous on the mountains around Bellefonte. But we haven't heard of a single one being captured by Bellefonte's sportsmen.

—The constant hum of the machinery at the box factory, both night and day, is an unpleasant sound to Democrats who are going around howling about hard times.

—Peter Herdic is experiencing some trouble in obtaining a license to run his wonderful coaches. As Peter has seldom been worsted we doubt not he will come out all right.

—A sensible action on the part of many just now, is to rake up the accumulation of dead leaves and burn them, for if they are allowed to rot on the ground they are liable to produce sickness.

—What has become of the "329" fiend? His sudden disappearance suggests the happy thought that possibly he has slipped through a coal hole in the sidewalk and is perishing inch by inch.

—The boys have good times swinging about and hanging by their heels from the new crane at the depot. Of course we don't object to the practice, as we confidently expect the boys to furnish us with a big item one of these days.

—The new brick sidewalk surrounding the residence of the late Roland Curtin, on corner of Howard and Allegheny streets, has been completed, and a substantial walk it is, too. Other property holders on the same street should take the hint and keep up with the work of improvement.

—Mr. Benjamin Comly, one of the stalwart Republicans of Pleasant Gap, was in to see us Wednesday and compare notes on the situation. Mr. C. is very enthusiastic over Indiana, and figures it up that Garfield will carry every Northern State. After flopping our eye over the field we have come to the conclusion that the old gentleman's prognostication is more than likely to be verified by the November count.

—The Garfield Guards have invitations to attend Republican meetings in Williamsport, Huntingdon and Philipsburg next week. One of the invitations—that of Huntingdon—will probably be accepted, as there is a general desire among the men to visit that place. Governor Hoyt, General Beaver and other prominent men are announced to speak there on Tuesday, the 26th, and review the grand torchlight parade in which three thousand men are expected to take part.

Local Campaign Notes.

The Democrats are talking of holding a day mass meeting in this place the latter part of next week. Ben. Butler, John W. Forney, Gen. Pearson and a host of other distinguished "floppers" will be invited to be present. Curtin's cause must indeed be growing weak to warrant the summoning of these stalwart warriors to his camp.

Ira C. Mitchell, the Lock Haven "sage," told the Democrats at their club room the other night that Hancock would carry the Keystone State as "slick as a whistle." But, then, Ira is noted for just such wild predictions as these.

The Republicans of Sandy Ridge are wide-awake and active, as will be seen by our correspondence from that place in another column.

Only five days of the campaign of 1880 are left for parading, speech-making, hurrahing and whooping 'er up generally. A good deal of political thunder can be shot off in that time, though.

S. Durbin Gray and S. D. Ray, Esq's., addressed an enthusiastic Republican meeting at Bush's school house, in Marion township, on Wednesday night. A glee club, composed mostly of patriotic young ladies, was in attendance and added much to the interest of the meeting by their spirited songs,

AN EPISTLE,

Wherein "Ugly Joe" Indulges in Some Rhymes.

MILROY, October 19.

Thinking that perhaps our Centre county friends might appreciate some news from this locality Ugly Joe decides to let you have it, and would say that times in general are very brisk in this (Mifflin) county. The woolen factory at this place, owned and conducted by Thompson Brothers, is running day and night, and they employ something like forty hands. Wm. Mann, Jr. & Co.'s axe factory near Lewistown is doing an immense business, and during a ramble through some of their large shops a day or two since I noticed the words "Free trade and poverty" conspicuously displayed in several places, thus showing that they "see through it." The iron and steel works at Logan are doing a better business than they have done at any time during the year, and it is really astonishing the amount of manufactured iron and steel they turn out. It is a busy hive of human industry, and Mr. Brosius, one of the managers, struck the nail squarely on the head when he said the other day that if Hancock would be elected every fire in that immense establishment would die out in less than a year.

It is hard to find any Democrats among the employes of the firms I have mentioned, and you can depend upon it that little Mifflin county will show up more Repuolican votes this fall than she has ever shown at any time during the past.

A. G. Curtin, report says, is to address the unterrified at Reedsville on next Friday evening, but we have to tell him that demagogueism does not take among the horny-handed ironmen and yeomanry in and around that town.

I notice that there is a "Joe Number Two" writing from College township since my departure, and while I do not wish to encroach upon his domain, I would like you to give the good people of Centre county the following verbatim copy of a postal that I have received from a friend in said township since the glorious news have been received from Indiana. It will serve to show the sentiment of College township Republicans. Said he: "How are you Indiana? Twelve long and weary years have you allowed your sons to wander to and fro in the wilderness of Democratic folly, but now that the prodigals have returned from all points of the compass the time to kill the fatted calf hath come! Rejoice and be glad all ye ends of the earth!" And he adds that after a thorough search he had failed to find a Democrat who knew anything about the result in the Hoosier State. He tells me that when the news came W. H. McFarlane jumped clean up through his hat, George Jack drank eleven bottles of root beer without taking breath, D. C. Gingerich jumped into the milldam, Wm. Kaup "Kinda" laughed, Daniel Hess declared that the railroad would be finished now sure, old Mr. Kramer quit work, J. E. Murray put his mouth all over his face with laughter and joy, and Joseph Swinehart of Boalsburg swore by his big toe that he would never do anything but smile as long as he lived, the Hancock pole in Boalsburg took a lean toward Salt river, the Garfield flag never flaunted so proudly before, and Republicans in general rejoiced.

The Democrats of Pennsvalley haven't heard the news yet; you know they take a Watchdog for their Bible. As a natural consequence they are steeped in ignorance, and Ugly Joe would respectfully suggest that the railroad through the valley be finished so that we can get the news to them before the November election. Meek and Furey will never let them have the correct news from Indiana.

I learn that you have a judge not more than forty miles from Bellefonte who is aspiring to be a poet; yes, I have learned that

Judge Orvis had a little pen,
And thought he'd write a line
About the very best of men—
A small 329.

Justice, great minds tell us all,
Should be a judge's forte;
But this one's mind is rather small—
All he can do is snort.

For all the while he wrote he knew
His charge was biased bad—
That Garfield's little horse just flew—
But, then, the Judge was mad.

3.29? Your hostler chum
Knows better, Judge, than that;
You certainly were mixed up some—
You'd a hot brick in your hat.

Keep quiet, dear old circuit judge;
You make a "holy show"
With all this Democratic fudge—
You are riling UGLY JOE.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

An Intelligent View of Eaton's Scheme.

Editor Morning News:

We notice that our Democratic friends with their usual cunning demagogueism are now endeavoring to make political capital out of a petition signed by a number of manufacturers asking Congress to refer the tariff to a commission of experts, thus taking it out of the hands of the committee of Ways and Means. Your readers will all remember that that committee has for its chairman Fernando Wood, the great apostle of free trade, and for its members a majority of free trade Democrats. Mr. Wood and his friends, "in the face of the terrible stagnation of business and the universal distress existing at the time," were making every effort to destroy the Republican protective tariff and to substitute for it a miserable abortion of his own which, had he been successful, would have utterly destroyed our struggling industries.

Under those circumstances what could be more natural than that every manufacturer and business man should grasp at such an opportunity as this afforded of averting the blow which Wood and his fellow conspirators would have dealt at the already suffering industries of our country. But after all, what was this proposition of Mr. Eaton's but a plan to enable the Democratic party to escape from the responsibility of any tariff legislation on the eve of a Presidential election. That party dare not, even if they were so disposed, advocate a tariff that would afford protection to Northern industries lest they might offend their Southern masters. Our friends should remember that there are still some old coons left who can remember the platform by which the poor Whigs were deluded when the rascally Locofocos went into the fight with Polk, Dallas and Shunk and the tariff of '42 inscribed upon their banners.

No, no, gentlemen, it won't do. You are at your old tricks again and General Hancock's tariff letter of 1880 is but a fac-simile of James K. Polk's production in the year of our Lord 1844. Besides all this, if Mr. Eaton's bill had become a law and a tariff bill had been prepared by a committee of business men it could only have been laid before Congress for their consideration, and if that Congress as well as the administration should both be Democratic, the bill would be so altered and amended that all its protective features would be removed, and the country no better off than when her industries were at the mercy of Mr. Wood and his committee. IRON.

Butted to Death by a Ram.

The Huntingdon News says an aged woman named Mrs. Mary McCahan, who resides near Cornprogst's mills, met with a strange and fatal accident on Monday afternoon last. She had gone to a neighboring orchard for the purpose of gathering apples, and while stooping down to pick some of the fruit a vicious ram that was in there plunged with great force against her, knocking her on the head with its horns, and rendering her insensible. Before assistance arrived the animal broke five ribs on the left side of her body, and one rib on the right side. Both horns made impressions in the skull horizontally with the woman's eye. She was picked up and taken to her home where she soon expired. She was aged sixty-two years.

—The Democrat and Watchman are both mad as blazes because Republicans will insist on "disgracing" themselves by wearing "329" badges in their parades. The fact of the matter is, the "329" dodge has taken an unexpected turn to them, and is making thousands of votes all over the country for the man whom it was intended to injure, as the Indiana election proves. Every Democrat in the land knows that the "329" ary is a bungling Democratic trick, and in attempting to make political capital out of it Democratic editors but insult the intelligence of their readers.

—There was a lively Republican meeting at Womer's school house on Marsh creek, Boggs township, on Thursday night. Wm. Womer was chosen president, Jacob Yarnell and D. R. Malone, vice-presidents, and Henry Heaton, secretary. Clement Dale and A. A. Dale, of this place, were the speakers, and the report we hear from there was that the people were well pleased with their effort. The Republicans of Marsh creek are full of enthusiasm and will show their faith by their works on election day.

—Thieves are getting their work in in some of the back townships under cover of the political excitement. Our farmer friends should not allow themselves to be so carried away on the sea of political turbulence as to neglect to fasten up their outhouses or take other precautionary measures to foil the midnight robber—who is abroad at all times.

Valuable Farm at Public Sale.

Will be offered at Public Sale on the premises in Marion township, on Tuesday, Dec. 14, 1880, at 1 o'clock P. M.,

the following described real estate late of John Beatty, deceased, to-wit: All that certain messuage or tract of land situated in Marion township, Centre county, Pa., bounded and described as follows: By lands of Hugheston heirs, McCalmont heirs, Judge Divens, John Decker, John Irvin, W. W. Beck and Henry Orndorf, containing 180 acres and allowance. There is thereon erected a two-story dwelling house, bank barn and other outbuildings, a never-failing well of water at the door, a good sized orchard of choice fruit.

This farm is in a good state of cultivation. Portions of it are underlaid with iron ore of good quality. There is limestone on the farm for liming purposes, of which some has been taken out and applied to the land. This farm is well worth the attention of those wishing to purchase a good farm, being smooth and easily worked. It is within about 1¼ miles of Jacksonville, three miles of Howard station on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, and eight miles of Bellefonte. This farm is convenient to schools, churches and mills. Persons wishing further information will please address or call upon W. C. BEATTY, residing on the place, post office address, Walker, Centre county, Pa.

A dower of three thousand one hundred and ninety-eight dollars and sixty-six cents to remain in the farm for the widow of the late George Hoy, deceased. The above property is owned by the heirs of John Beatty, deceased, who desire to sell to make a dividend between the heirs. Terms made known on day of sale.

Is a sure cure for all the ordinary diseases of Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Swine. It cures and prevents Chicken Cholera. Your cow is certain to yield 25 per cent more and better milk and butter. Stock fattens on one-fourth less feed!

Being in possession of a large number of excellent testimonials, I subjoin a few:

I have been using your Cattle Powder for horses, cows, chickens and pigs, and find it a first class thing.—GEORGE BOND, Germantown, Pa.

Please send me half a gross of Cattle Powder. I have used two packs on my cow and chickens. The cow gave nearly twice the quantity of milk that she did before, and gave twice the amount of butter. My chickens were dying, but were cured immediately after I had used the powder. Yours truly, JONAS PASOUR, Dallas, N. C.

I have used and compared your Cattle Powder with all others, and must say it is the best for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, &c. I have tried it on poultry for many complaints, with success in every case.—JONATHAN WEAVER, Berrysburg, Pa.

Last summer you sent me a pack of your powder which I gave to my poultry, and have not had one droopy turkey or chicken since.—MRS. WM. KNAPP, Orange, N. Y.

Send me a pack or two of your Cattle Powder. The pack I got from you last winter cured the chicken cholera. I gave some of it to a neighbor and it cured his chickens.—JOHN WILLIAMS, Spruce Vale, Ohio.

DISCOVERER OF

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S

VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

The Positive Cure

For all Female Complaints.

This preparation, as its name signifies, consists of Vegetable Properties that are harmless to the most delicate invalid. Upon one trial the merits of this Compound will be recognized, as relief is immediate; and when its use is continued, in ninety-nine cases in a hundred, a permanent cure is effected, as thousands will testify. On account of its proven merits, it is to-day recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country.

It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life. It will dissolve and expel tumors from the uterus in an early stage of development. The tendency to cancerous humors there is checked very speedily by its use.

In fact it has proved to be the greatest and best remedy that has ever been discovered. It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach.

It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

For Kidney Complaints of either sex this compound is unsurpassed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared at 233 and 235 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass. Price $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sent by mail in the form of pills, also in the form of Lozenges, on receipt of price, $1.00, per box, for either. Mrs. PINKHAM freely answers all letters of inquiry. Send for pamphlet. JOHN I. RANKIN, Chairman Republican Co. Com.

—The Raftsman's Journal relates the following story told on a certain ex-Governor, well known in Bellefonte, who recently made a speech in Clinton county: "He was in the midst of his speech and on the table stood a glass of water from which he took frequent sips. Immediately in front of the stand stood an Irishman, taking in every word that the speaker uttered. Suddenly the ex-Governor, while wildly gesticulating, struck the glass a blow, throwing the contents into the Irishman's face. The latter jumped to his feet and cried out, 'Be Gorra, its gin.'"

Sandy Ridge Republicans.

SANDY RIDGE, CENTRE Co.,
October, 21, 1880.

Mr. Editor—SIR: Permit me space to tell you of one of the most successful Republican meetings ever held in Rush township, which came off here last evening.

The meeting was gotten up by William R. Miller, Esq., the proprietor of the large fire-brick works at this place, John A. Mull, Esq., of Philipsburg, Col. Wigton of Morrisdale and one or two other sterling Republicans of this neighborhood. To the liberality and foresight of these gentlemen we are all indebted for a stirring good time. Mr. Miller, through perseverance, obtained a special train of cars from the Penna. R. R. company, which, starting at Morrisdale, brought to us from that station, from Philipsburg and from Osceola, under the care of Colonel Wigton, Wm. P. Duncan, John A. Mull, Captain Simler and other prominent leaders, some two hundred good and true men, bearing torches and banners, and keeping step to the martial music, which they brought with them.

We have, unfortunately, no public hall in our place, and as the night was fresh and frosty, an attempt was made to put the crowd into our large school house. Sardines in a box, Mr. editor, you may know something about, but you don't know anything about Colonel Hastings' ability to stow Republicans into a school house. Well, the Colonel did his level best, and he got about one-half the crowd into that elastic building.

The meeting was organized by putting Mr. Miller into the chair, who introduced Colonel Hastings as the first speaker. The Colonel was much more eloquent and forcible than when I heard him at Philipsburg. He presented his argument well, and sustained it with illustrations and facts well worthy of the cause. He laid it on soundly and spared not the Democratic party, and the cheers and yells that went up made old Sandy Ridge echo again.

Colonel Hastings introduced your fellow-townsman, Mr. James Miliken, who was specially invited to speak upon the tariff, a subject upon which he is as thoroughly informed as any one I ever listened to. He is a trained speaker, of most entertaining style and persuasive manner, with most excellent and well modulated voice. He began by stating, "I shall not speak for your applause, but I shall speak for your understanding." And so he did, but applause, long and continued, followed him. He brought the subject of the tariff home to the workingman's hearthstone in plain, earnest thought and style, and made it so simple and true that the least informed understood it as never before. Long will Mr. Milliken be remembered at Sandy Ridge.

One of the most pleasant incidents of the evening was the presence of the wife of Mr. Miller, whom, we are told, is really a Democrat by political conviction, but in honor of her husband and in compliment to us and to her guests, the speakers of the evening, she came to our meeting unattended by any lady, but the honored guest of us all.

Mr. Mastings made a short address after the meeting adjourned at the station, out of respect to those who could not get into the building.

Yours truly, OVERDALE.

IF you desire the encouragement of the manufacturing and business interests of the country vote against "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

Raising the Colors in Snow Shoe.

MR. EDITOR: As political booms are pouring in from all parts of the country, giving life and interest to the Republican cause—the cause of right—the Republicans of Snow Shoe and Burnside take pleasure in contributing their mite in the expression of the general joy felt over the Republican successes in Indiana and Ohio last week.

The Republicans of this place raised a Garfield and Arthur pole, some seventy feet high, from the top of which to the summit of a tall oak near by is stretched a cord upon which is unfurled a magnificent Republican flag with the inscription:

INDIANA, OHIO,
$329.

It went up amid the most unbounded enthusiasm, salutes being fired in honor of the different States, and particularly expressive of the surprise and delight felt at the glorious news from Indiana and Ohio, which fell like a perfect avalanche upon the Democracy here.

$329 is the Republican watchword and they intend it shall be made up in electoral votes for Garfield and Arthur, and therefore hope to see this magical number posted in every conspicuous nook and corner; as its effect will be to roll up such a Republican majority that it will bury the Democracy so deep that the sound of Gabriel's horn will never reach them.

At 7:30 the crowd formed into a procession and repaired to Mechanic's Hall, led by Snow Shoe city brass band, which for fine music astonished the expectations of its most sanguine friends. After the usual preliminaries of appointing president, vice-presidents, &c., Messrs. Love and Keller were introduced, who received more than ordinary greetings. After the enthusiasm had somewhat subsided Mr Love addressed the meeting in his usual eloquent and happy style. He was followed by Mr. Keller, whose sound logic on the tariff and labor questions and his common sense talk, brought the truth home with such convincing power that some of the Democratic persuasion acknowledged that the interests of the country demanded a Republican success. Unlike Mr. Curtin, who spoke here some time ago, the speakers made no obscene insinuations in relation to the bloody shirt that could offend a lady of the most fastidious tastes.

The ex-Governor's little episode about the ground hog very strikingly resembles the boy's case who was after the ground hog and was determined to have him. He was out of meat. This is evidently the ex-Governor's situation just now. He is out of meat, and failing to get Yocum's pig, has gone after another Democratic ground hog with a determination to contest it unless it meekly lies down at his feet. A horrible thing indeed to be out of meat.

REPUBLICAN.

WILL the Democrats carry in their procession on Friday next a banner with "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" inscribed thereon?

Republican Rally at Stormstown.

One of the liveliest meetings of the campaign was held at Stormstown last Tuesday, Oct. 26th. The evening train from Bellefonte bore the speakers to Port Matilda, where carriages were in readiness to take them to Stormstown, arriving there about 8 o'clock in the evening.

As they entered the town they saw the preparations for a torchlight procession, which soon formed and paraded the streets headed by the Lemont brass band. There were in line about 150 torches. There were also many without lights, as the managers with all their diligence had been unable to gather lights enough for all who desired to parade.

Port Matilda was represented with a delegation of about fifty torches, who had marched over the mountain on foot. There was in the procession a wagon, handsomely trimmed, containing 21 patriotic young ladies, dressed in white and carrying banners, on which were inscribed the States that are going for Garfield and the number of electors from each.

After the parade two meetings were organized, one in the school house, and one in an empty store room near by. Mr. A. O. Furst spoke at the latter place, taking for his subject the tariff. He was followed by John C. Henderson, of Julian, who gave a speech full of hot shot, as John can do it. Among other things he said that at a conference of Methodist ministers he attended lately there were 284 present and among them all there were but two Democrats. One he named, and the other they all knew (he had reference to the minister in their town.)

Col. Hastings, who had been speaking at the school house, now came over and spoke at the store room meeting.

The meeting at the school house was organized in the usual way. The first speaker was Col. D. H. Hastings, followed by Col. D. S. Keller. Both of these gentlemen made eloquent speeches and held their audience to a late hour. At about 11 o'clock calls were made for A. O. Furst, who objected to speaking on account of the lateness of the hour. The audience insisted, however, and Mr. Furst took the stand. He raised the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch, and cheer upon cheer went up.

The meeting concluded with cheers for the National, State and county tickets. The meeting was a great success, and the people well pleased. We heard many remark that they could have stayed all night and listened to the eloquent speeches that were made. Much credit for the success of this grand demonstration is due to Cyrus Hunter and Robert P. Gray, who were unceasing in their labors. The best compliment we can pay these gentlemen is to say that they are solid Republicans. The Lemont band discoursed excellent music at the meeting and on the street. The last thing we heard as we dropped into the arms of Morpheus was the beautiful strains of their music floating away on the midnight air.

GO TO THE polls on the 2d of November and vote for the party that favors the protection of the industries of the country.

Samuel T. Gray Declines.

BUFFALO RUN, Oct. 22, 1880.—Ed. T. Tuten, Esq.—Dear sir: I have been told this evening for the first time that I have been nominated for the office of County Surveyor by the last Greenback Convention held at Bellefonte a few days ago. Please say to the voters of Centre county that I decline such nomination. I shall vote the Republican ticket in full and hope all my friends throughout the county will do the same, not failing to give a cordial support to the regular nominee of the Republican party for the office of County Surveyor. I fully appreciate the honor the gentlemen would confer upon me, but feel that this is no time for trifling; that this year every true patriot should move with the solid phalanx marching to the relief of our endangered liberties. With the hope that no true friend of mine will throw a vote away at this time, I remain, yours, &c.,

SAMUEL T. GRAY.

THE Democrats, at their National Convention, pledged themselves to "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

THOSE Bourbon mud-slingers who take such delight in attempting to blacken the character of General Garfield, do not seem to be in the least daunted by the popular verdict in Ohio and Indiana. They ignor the fact that in his own district (the Nineteenth) the Republicans increased their majority 1,600 over that given for Governor Foster last year. The majority in the five counties composing the district was nearly 13,000—the largest ever given in that district for any man or ticket before. The are no more critical or careful voters anywhere in the country than are found sn the Western Reserve, and particularly in the district represented by Elisha Whittlesey and Joshua A. Giddings. While General Garfield's constituents have given a majority for the party of which he is now the honored standard bearer unprecedented in its history, Indiana, the State of one of the Democratic standard bearers, reverses a Democratic majority of 14,000 and gives a Republican plurality of over 7,000. This ought to be an emphatic answer to the slanderers and villifiers of Garfield's character, but they will not be completely silenced until the second of November.

THE farmers of Centre county will do well to pause before voting in favor of "a tariff for revenue only."

THE Democratic party as a last extremity has resorted to the crime of forgery, in the vain hope of winning the votes of the workingmen. The paper now being circulated as a letter written by General Garfield on the Chinese question, is pronounced by General Garfield himself a stupid forgery. It is the work of Democrats, and shows what the leaders of that party will do in their desperation to gain votes. The result will be a disgraceful failure and the condemnation of all honest men of both parties. Really the Democratic leaders must think the workingmen of this enlightened country are a set of fools to be misled by such a transparent device. They offer an insult to the intelligence of a large, useful and respectable class of citizens, which every man who has any respect for himself should resent most emphatically. Any newspaper that prints and endorses that letter prints a lie and endorses one of the blackest of crimes, against which the law directs its fiercest shafts. Yet of such is Democracy.

WHAT a rejoicing there would be in Great Britain if "a tariff for revenue only" should win in this country.

THE Chicago Times (Ind.) pays this compliment to one of the Republican stalwarts: "Little need be said in explanation of the extraordinary popularity which Senator Conkling achieved in Ohio and Indiana. A famous jury lawyer, he knew how to unbend in order to win his case, and his fame having long preceded him, and his continued refusal to take the western stump, had created the impression that he was haughty in temperment and manners. People were happily disappointed in this particular. He was sauve, popular, ready with repartee, patient of interruption. Aside from this, Senator Conkling's reputation for personal and official integrity has never been questioned."

AGAINST "a tariff for revenue only" should be the cry of every man who desires to see the country prosperous.

IF you do not want "a tariff for revenue only," vote for Garfield and Arthur.

Partisanship and Trade.

Some weak and vain efforts are being made to spread among the manufacturers and merchants of Philadelphia two very dangerous delusions. The first of these is that, in order to insure the permanence of the protective duties of the tariff, it is necessary that we should carefully avoid making the protective policy a partisan issue. The second delusion is that it is perilous to the trade of Philadelphia to incur the hostility of ill feeling of the Southern States, and thus to lose their patronage in commerce. The first point is so transparent a fraud as scarcely to require argument to expose it. The Democratic party, in convention assembled at Cincinnati, deliberately and unanimously made a platform declaring against all protective duties and in favor for a tariff for revenue only, and also for issuing American registers to foreign ships. The Republican party, in convention assembled at Chicago, exactly reversed this platform, declaring squarely for a tariff for the protection of domestic industries of all kinds, and for the maintenance of a system of laws calculated to foster and stimulate American shipbuilding and commerc in American vessels. Thus the two great national parties stand clearly and unequivocally arrayed against each other, the one in favor of protection and the other against it. It is a sheer waste of time to discuss whether the personal sympathies of General Hancock are inclined toward the workingmen whose interests are assailed and menaced with destruction by the Cincinnati platform, which he has carefully considered and duly accepted and endorsed. The people of the country cannot surely at this late day wish to repeat the experience they had when in 1864 they were weak enough to be duped into accepting Polk and Dallas as friends of protection. The Democratic party is to be judged by the record itself has made in national convention assembled, as well as by the infamous tariff of Fernando Wood, made by a Democratic committee and sustained by a large majority of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives, which tariff was really intended to protect foreign manufacturing monopolists against the increasing competition of American industries, both in our own and foreign markets. Surely the manufacturers themselves ought to know their own friends better than to thrust them aside and vote for their enemies, under the dulusion that the tariff can possibly be made independent of partisan politics. Concerning the second delusion mentioned above, it is quite sufficient to say that Philadelphia is essentially and overwhelmingly a manufacturing city, and that while the South solidly arrays itself against the entire policy of a protective tariff, the trade of that section cannot possibly afford to us any compensation for the enormous injury the South seeks to inflict upon us by the abolition of the protective duties

IF Hancock should be elected this follows: "A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

HYDE PARK, MINN., April 23d, '80.

"I have taken nearly a package of Kidney-Wort and it has made me so much better that I wish to recommend it to all that may need such a remedy. I am sixty years old, and have raised a large family of children. I have not been able to do my housework for many years, but now I have sent my girls all off and am doing my work alone, which surprises all the people that know me."

MRS. P. MORSE.

EVANS, COL., Jan. 8th, 1880.

Dear Sirs—The Kidney-Wort I got of you is the best medicine I ever used. I shall recommend it to all my friends I thank you and kind Providence for conveying it to me, it is a great temporal blessing.

Very Respectfully, WM. ELLIS.

IF the Democrats should be successful at the next election, "a tariff for revenue only" will be a sure thing.

—Always keep 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' in your house, if your druggists will not get it for you send to the proprietors, B. J. Kendall & Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

"A TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY" means 40 cents per day for workingmen.

—Joys are our wings, sorrows are our spur, DAYS' KIDNEY PAD is health, medicines are death.

WORKINGMEN of Centre county, if you know what "a tariff for revenue only" means, you cannot support the Democratic ticket.

A LIE AND A FRAUD.

The Last Desperate Scheme of the Expiring Democracy.

AN INFAMOUS DEMOCRATIC FORGERY.

MENTOR, Oct. 22.—General Garfield's attention being called to the full text of a letter on the Chinese question purporting to have been addressed by him in January last to Henry L. Morey, of Lynn, Mass., and published in a New York paper of to-day, promptly and emphatically characterized it as a stupid forgery.

Morey Not to be Found.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Inquiry among the leading business men of Lynn, says the Traveller, shows that no such man as H. L. Morey, to whom General Garfield is alleged to have addressed a letter on the Chinese question, has lived there since 1873, nor has such a labor organization as the Employers' Union ever existed there.

A Strong Confirmation.

BOSTON, Oct. 25. — The Boston Herald stated yesterday in effect that interviews with prominent Lynn manufacturers of all shades of politics substantiate the statement that no such organization as the Employers' Union ever existed in Lynn, and that H. L. Morey is wholly unknown to them. All employes in the shop with which Morey is alleged to have been connected deny all knowledge of any such person. During the strikes there was an organization known as the Manufacturers' Bureau, but the manager of this, who employed men in the place of the strikers, was named Richardson, not Morey.

THE LATEST NEWS.

Tilden Running the Democratic Canvass.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The impression has been gaining ground here during the past few days that the Democratic leaders, in their demoralization after last week's reverses, called upon the sage of Gramercy Park to save them. This impression is strengthed by the remark of a prominent Democrat, who said to-day: "I know whereof I speak. I know that Tilden is now managing the Democratfc campaign. In taking the helm he made two demands: First, that he should be absolutely commander-in-chief, and that the National Committee should follow his instructions, and, second, that Tammany and the Irving Hall Democracy should settle their differences and agree upon a candidate for Mayor of New York City upon whom both factions would unite."

Visiting Firemen.

GETTYSBURG, Oct. 23.—The Vigilant Steam Fire Engine Company of York, Pa., and their guests, the Humane Steam Fire Engine Company, of Norristown, Pa., visited this place yesterday in a special train, and after parading the streets and visiting the National Cemetery, and different points of the battlefield, took dinner at the Springs Hotel. The visiting companies were accompanied by Hon. G. N. Corson, Messrs. John Ogden and A. L. Keigs, of Norristown, and J. K. Bolton and B. F. Thompson of Harrisburg as guests, and the Spring Garden and Weccacoe Legion Brass Bands of York and Philadelphia respectively. As they marched through the streets the fine physique of the men, their handsome uniforms, manly bearing and thorough discipline elicited the admiration of all. The train with the visiting companies returned to York at 6 p. m.

The Destruction of Victoria's Band.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Despatches to the War Department confirm the reported killing of the Indian raider Victoria, and the greater portion of his band by the Mexican troops.

No Fusion in Indiana.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The Greenback leaders here say that nothing will come of the Democratic attempt in Indiana to make a fusion with the Greenbackers on the electoral ticket for next month's election. C. C. Post, Chairman of the Indiana Greenback State Committee, sent the following dispatch to-day to Lee Crandall, Secretary of their Congressional Committee: "Confusion among the Democrats. No fusion by Nationals. Spit on your hands and stick to the fact that there won't be."

Compliments to Wade Hampton.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—On returning from Mentor the other day the Republican Veterans met in this city and adopted and telegraphed the following:

"Mr. Wade Hampton, Columbia S. C.—Dear Sir: Twelve hundred Union veterans, members of the Garfield and Arthur Veteran Corps of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, who have just returned from a visit to General James A. Garfield, at his home in Mentor, hereby send you their compliments and say to you that they will, on November 2, 1880, vote as they shot, and that their address will be Cleveland, Ohio."

Signed by M. D. Leggett, President of the Corpse, and Geo. A. Grout, chairman Executive Committee.

Bob Ingersoll's Great Speech.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll made one of his most eloquent and impressive addresses to a large crowd Saturday evening before an immense audience in the Cooper Institute. The thousands who heard him were stirred as few other orators in the country have power to stir their hearers. The speech was crammed with good things—sharp hits, lively sallies, rich humor and glowing wit, and with appeals of a high order of eloquence. Almost every sentence was interrupted or rounded with applause or laughter. All the great questions of the campaign were considered. The orator first took up the suppression of free speech in the South; then he spoke of the importance of an honest ballot; the honest collection of the public revenues was then touched upon; the currency was next considered; the doctrine of State Sovereignty was riddled; the duty of the government to protect every citizen was upheld; the importance of the protection of labor was presenten, and in conclusion the claims of the candidates of the two parties to public support were reviewed in a masterly manner.

General McClellan at Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 23.—General George B. McClellan was present at a big Democratic demonstration which took place here on Friday night. There was a day parade, composed of delegations from the county, in vehicles and mounted. Speeches were made in the afternoon by McClellan, Lewis C. Cassidy, Senator Buckalew, S. R. Peale, T. C. Hipple, and others. Five thousand men were in the torchlight parade in the evening. General McClellan left for New York, by way of Elmira, to-night in a special train.

A Congressional Nominee in Trouble.

BRADFORD, Oct. 25.—The Star published Saturday copies of affidavits which show conclusively that David Krik, of Bradford, the fusion candidate for Congress in the Sixteenth Congressional district, is not a resident of Pennsylvania. Mr. Krik removed his family from Jamestown, New York, after he had been endorsed by the Greenback and Democratic parties. The publication of the affidavits caused a great sensation in political circles.

Killed by a Freight Train.

CENTREVILLE, N. S., Oct. 25.—Percy Bond, an old man living at Smithville, was struck by the early train Saturday morning and instantly killed. Mr. Bond was in comfortable circumstances, and was visiting his son, who lived here.

A Woman Killed in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—Mrs. C. A. Simpson, wife of the station agent at St. Elmo, on New Orleans and Mobile Railroad, was struck by a passing train and was instantly killed. An infant in her arms escaped uninjured.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY—16 PAGES. SUITED TO BOYS AND GIRLS OF FROM SIX TO SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

Volume II. commences Nov. 2, 1880.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

Within a year of its first appearance, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE has secured a leading place among the periodicals designed for juvenile readers. The object of those who have the paper in charge is to provide for boys and girls from the age of six to sixteen a weekly treat in the way of entertaining stories, poems, historical sketches, and other attractive reading matter, with profuse and beautiful illustrations, and at the same time to make its spirit and influence harmonize with the moral atmosphere which pervades every cultivated Christian household. This important design they endeavor to carry out by combining the best literary and artistic talent, so that fiction shall appear in bright and innocent colors, sober facts assume such a holiday dress as to be no longer dry or dull, and mental exercise, in the solution of puzzles, problems, and other devices, become a delight.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, $1.50 per Year, Postage prepaid.

Single numbers four cents each.

The Bound Volume for 1880, containing the first fifty-two numbers, will be ready early in November. Price, $3.00, postage prepaid. Cover for YOUNG PEOPLE for 1880, 35 cents; postage, 13 cents additional.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

It Cures Spavins, Splints, Curbs Ringbones, and all similar Blemishes, and Removes the Bunch without Blistering.

For Man it is now known to be one of the best, if not the best, Liniments ever discovered.

We feel positive that every man can have perfect success in every case if he will only use good common sense in applying KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE, and persevere in bad cases of long standing. Read below the experience of others.

From Col. L. T. Foster.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO.: Gents: I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly; he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a smaller one on the other, which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons, which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express; I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it. They ordered three bottles. I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to the directions and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle, and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

Very respectfully, L. T. FOSTER.

From Rev. P. N. Granger,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO.: GENTS. In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of Lameness caused by spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 10th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & CO.: GENTS: In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin cure, one very large one. Don't know now long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off, and two months for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great.

Respy yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

STATEMENT MADE UNDER OATH.

To Whom it may Concern: In 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he has never been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated them with Kendall's Spavin Cure. R. A. GAINES.

Enosburg Falls, Vt., Feb. 25th, 1879.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 25th day of Feb., A. D. 1879.

JOHN G. JENNE,
Justice of the Peace.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ON HUMAN FLESH it has been ascertained by repeated trials to be the very best Liniment ever used for any deep-seated pain of long standing, or of short duration. Also for CORNS, BUNIONS, FROST-BITES or any bruise, cut or lameness. Some are afraid to use it on human flesh simply because it is a horse medicine, but you should remember that what is good for BEAST is good for MAN, and we know from experience that KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE can be used on a child one year old with perfect safety. Its effects are wonderful on human flesh and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced.

What is Good for Beast is Good for Man

Read of its effects on human flesh:

Patten's Mills, Wash. co., N. Y., Feb. 21, 1878.

B. J. KENDALL, M. D.: Dear Sir: The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months' standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Kendall's Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excels anything we ever used. Yours truly,

Rev. M. P. BELL,
Pastor M. E Church, Patten's Mills, N. Y.

Bakersfield, Vt., Dec. 23, 1879.

B. J. KENDALL & CO.: GENTS: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment, Kendall's Spavin Cure. In the spring of 1872 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple for life, but having some of Kendall's Spavin Cure thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you and would recommend Kendall's Spavin Cure to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

Yours truly MRS. J. BOUTELL.

Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man. Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors

BELLEFONTE, PA.

President Gorfield's Majority.

We give below the vote in the Electoral College as it is extremely likely to stand on the morning of November 3d. The North will give Garfield its solid vote—231. If the South is held solid, which is by no means certain, Hancock will have its 138 votes. This would give Garfield a clear majority of 93, or 46 more than enough to elect. But Florida is more than doubtful. It is to-day Republican on a fair vote and an honest count. South Carolina is the same, and if the anti-Bourbon portion of the Democratic party there asserts itself as it wishes to, South Carolina will cast its vote for Garfield. Virginia is also doubtful, with chances for Garfield. The Republicans also have a fighting chance in both West Virginia and North Carolina:

States	Electoral vote.	States.	Electoral vote.
California	6	Alabama	10
Colorado	3	Arkansas	6
Connecticut	6	Delaware	3
Illinois	21	Florida	4

Democratic Opinions.

The opinion of the Democratic party as to its candidate is known at last. After bedaubing them with fulsome and insincere praise, the party now manifests its utter and intolerable disgust in terms which Republicans could not use without descending to the Democratic level of abuse.

No words can do full justice to the contempt and scorn which the active Democrats feel. General Hancock has convinced even the dullest Democrat that he is unfit for any civil trust, by his talking and writing about the tariff. Mr. English has made his party both despise and hate him, by getting a nomination on the promise to give a great sum of money; by assuring his party that his State would be carried with no expense to anybody but himself; and by getting outrageously beaten after the party had been forced to contribute so much, in order to save Indiana, that its treasury is strictly an aching void. What the party wanted of General Hancock was to be a good mask; to shut his mouth and be a certificate of loyalty. But he talks, and talks the worst of nonsense ever uttered by any candidate for high office. What the party wanted of Mr. English was to use his millions to buy up Indiana. But he proves more stingy than anybody expected, and loses a Democratic State. What wonder that the party denounces its candidates!

"Incidentally Protective."

Senator Randolph played a nice tune and a plain and easy tune, but General Hancock was no more successful in dancing among the eggs of the tariff question than he was when the Patterson editor conducted the performance. The General is sadly in need of a trainer. His efforts are ludicrously clumsy. He says in his letter, which is evidently intended to call back the hosts of Democratic workingmen in New Jersey who have marched over to the Republican camp, that he is in favor of a tariff system which shall be "incidentally protective."

The phrase is as unfortunate as the one he used about the tariff being "a local issue." It is not incidental protection that the New Jersey mechanics want. They want protection based upon a principle. They don't propose to have their wages depend upon an incident of Congressional legislation. They would like to know how General Hancock would enjoy an incidental salary as an officer of the army—nothing that he had any right to, but a mere incident of legislation adopted for some other purpose. What is good enough for the man with the hammer they think good enough for the man with the epaulets. His income is fixed by law, but he seems to think that their wages can be left to the chances of a tariff for revenue only.

There is nothing incidental about the Republican tariff doctrine. The Republican party believes in Protection for the sake of Protection, and not in Protection as the mere accident of a scheme for getting revenue. It legislates for the express purpose of benefiting the workingmen of the United States. The workingmen realize this fact, and General Hancock will not divert them from their purpose of voting with the party of real, permanent, premeditated Protection by anything he can say about the tariff. He is altogether too incidental for them.—[Tribune.

The Frozen Smile.

How queer a frozen smile looks! Particularly when it is on a great political party that's e'enamost tickled to death over a piece of smartness that turns out suddenly not to be so smart. Here not ten days ago was the great Democratic party, with chalk in its hand and a guffaw broad as the continent on its face, writing up and down the land "329," and howling itself red in the face over the stupendous funniness of it. Not that there's anything funny in the figures, or the suggestion they intend, but some people have a strange notion that if they keep saying anything—no matter what—it becomes funny by repetition. This kind of wit is cheap enough to be universal. It is the chief feature of some newspapers. But one morning, while these humorists were swinging their chalk on high, and the irresistible wits in the newspapers were just throwing themselves into convulsions over the columns of short paragraphs they were working up with "329" in each, there came some figures of vaster volume and more momentous sound out of two Western States. They arrested the arm of the chalker; the pen of the paragrapher stood still; the loose chin of the stump orator grated and stuck and stood still on its shambling hinge.

In an instant they all sat in the core and centre of a thousand Arctic writers; they congealed without a shiver. The peripathetic with his chalk, half bent to the sidewalk over the unfinished "32—"; the paragrapher with pendant pencil over his 329th "three twenty n—"; and the stump humorist cut off at "three twent—" in the middle of his mirth; all stark and stiff with staring eyeballs and a frozen grin. Queer spectacle! And will they ever thaw? Perhaps so, if we wait. And will they go right on from where they left off? Probably not. The paripathetic will more likely finish his "32—" with a?; the paragrapher will state, not as a joke but as matter of news, that the thermometer has been standing at 329 degrees below zero; and the humorous stumper, as his jaw falls loose and he sees the returns, will finish his "three twenty—" in German, with the rising inflection—"Nine?" And then perhaps somebody—Senator Randolph, for instance—will say: "This comes of Free Trade. We must come out for Protection—from the draft."

You Can Skip.

'Is your name David Shaster?' asked the court of a man nearly seven feet high who suddenly walked out on Bijah's arm.

'Hey?' repljed the prisoner, as he leaned forward.

'Is your name David Shaster?'

'Hey?'

'Is—your—name—David—Shaster?' repeated the court with all his voice.

'Yes, I suppose it is.'

'You are charged with being drunk.'

'Hey?'

'You are charged with being drunk.'

'Hey?'

'Drunk!' yelled Bijah, with his mouth close to the man's ear.

'Who'se drunk? What have I gotto do with anybody being drunk?'

'You were drunk!' shouted the court.

'Hey?'

'You were drunk!' yelled Bijah.

'Bet you $6,' reslied the prisoner as he went down for the money.

The officer in the case said he found him lying under a shed, drunk and asleep and the court replied:

'Well, I can't yell my head off to make him understand. I've busted my collar button and broken a suspender already, and I shall let him go. Prisoner you can go.'

'Hey?'

'You can skip.'

'Hey?'

Bijah turned him around and run him out and shut the door, but he put his nose against the glass and shook the door and called out:

'Hey? I'll see if I haven't any rights!'

SUMMARY OF THE NEWS.

Edmunds to Remain in the Senate.

MONTPELIER, Oct. 19.—The Senatorial election for a successor to Senator Edmunds takes place next Wednesday. The present incumbent will undoubtedly be re-elected, as no one else is talked of.

Sherman in Garfield's Cabinet.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 19.—The Ohio State Journal, official organ of the Republicans, announced yesterday morning authoritatively that in view of Garfield's election John Sherman will be retained as Secretary of the Treasury.

Fall of a Trestle.

HARRISONBURG, Va., Oct. 19.—A serious disaster occurred on the Shenandoah Valley railroad, at East Liberty, Page county, Saturday, the entire trestle work, 1260 feet long and 94 feet high, going down with a crash in one promiscuous ruin, instantly killing Walker Jones, of Barboursville, and injuring seriously Steward Bawcock, of McGaheysville. This accident will probably delay the completion of this section of the road for several months.

A Defaulter.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—John A. Woodward, fifteen years in the service of the Treasury department of this city, the last few years holding the position of cashier, has disappeared and is alleged to be a defaulter to the amount of $82,000. He stood well socially, was not known to be speculative or extravagant in his expenditures, was supposed to be a bachelor, but since the discovery of the deficit, a Miss Amy Knowlton, supposed to belong in New York or Philadelphia, told his mother she had been married to him two years.

A Girl Assaulted.

MILFORD, Oct. 19.—A servant girl in the employ of William H. Rose living near this place, while going out in the garden after wood last night was seized by a strange man, who threw her to the ground, jumped upon her, breaking two of her ribs, and is said to have stabbed her two or three times in the chest. She was found unconscious and is believed to be lying at the point of death. Her assailant is believed to have been a wealthy farmer, a relative of her employer, who is at enmity with Rose's wife. The assailant evidently mistook the servant for Rose's wife.

Marriage of the Czar of Russia.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—The Presse says: We learn on the best authority that Princess Dolgorouki married the Czar as the younger neice of the Governor General of Moscow, and not as a sister of Count Albertinski. The negotiations respecting the future position of Princess Dolgorouki and her children are still pending. It is proposed that the latter be recognized as princes of blood and take rank after the grand dukes. Should the Czarewitch consent to this arrangement the Czar will appoint him co-regent and transfer to him the reins of government, the Czar retaining imperial privileges and retiring permanently to Lividia.

Boston's Remarkable Financiers.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The bill in equity filed against Sarah E. Howe, the manager of the Ladies' Deposit, and others, came up in the Equity Session of the Supreme Court to-day. Counsel appeared for the complainants and respondents. The appointment of a receiver was urgently advocated by counsel for the complainants. The court reserved its decision.

Miss Susan A. Crandall, the cashier of the institution, testified that Mrs. Howe told her that twelve responsible men backed the institution, but she knew nothing about it. Men were generally excluded from the business transactions of the bank. The recent newspaper articles caused the bank to pay out $40,000 the day before suspending operations.

Riotous Laborers.

Governor Long has received a telegram from Sandwich stating that the Italian laborers employed on the Cape Cod canal have begun a riotous demonstration, and asking for assistance to suppress it. He has ordered Chief of State Police Wade to proceed at once to the scene of trouble with his force. On the arrival of the State police it was found that their services were not needed. Serious trouble is apprehended, however, if the workmen are not paid to-morrow. Their condition is described as deplorable.

The Contest in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Such a canvass as the Republicans are now making of this State has not been known before since the year Martin Van Buren ran as an independent candidate to beat Lewis Cass and elect William Henry Harrison. The leaders and orators from all parts of the country are here performing yeoman service. The presence of General Grant as presiding officer at the different meetings, and Conkling's addresses in central New York is awakening the greatest enthusiasm all through the State, and it is announced that the meetings will rival both in size and enthusiasm the monster gatherings at which they appeared in the west. Last night it was stated that Grant and Conkling would appear together at an immense mass meeting at Utica, the latter's home. On the 21st Conkling makes a speech at Jamestown. On the 26th he and Grant will again join forces at a gigantic daylight meeting at Syracuse. Immediately on its conclusion Conkling will leave for Rochester, where he will deliver another address, very possibly again with General Grant presiding.

Carry the News to Hancock.

MENTOR, Oct. 20. — About five hundred of the Lincoln Club of Indianapolis went to Mentor yesterday morning by a special train to pay their respects to General Garfield. They all wore linen dusters as a burlesque on the rich costumes of the Jefferson Club of their city. Coming up the farm lane from the railroad, led by the band, they made a novel appearance. Arriving at the house, General Garfield appeared, and the club chairman, M. G. McLaine, made a brief address, in which he eulogized the Republican party and its candidate. He said the club came to bring good news from Indiana and to give assurance of a greater victory under the inspiration of General James A. Garfield's leadership. General Garfield responded in a happy and appropriate speech.

Tammany and Irving Hall Agree.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Tammany and Irving Hall county conventions met yesterday and carried out the agreement entered into by the conference committees of both organizations. William R. Grace was nominated for Mayor by Irving Hall, Chas. H. Truax for Judge of the Superior Court, and Bernard Kenny for Alderman-at-large. The Tammany convention nominated Frederick Smyth for Recorder, Augustus T. Docharty for Register, and William Sauer and James J. Slevin for Aldermen-at-large. These nominations were speedily ratified by both conventions. The nominations for Justice of the Marine Court and one Alderman-at-large were conceded to the Germans.

The Flag of the "Lost Cause."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A Hancock and English rebel flag is flying conspicuously in the little village of Auburn, Fauquier county, Virginia, or was a week ago. A gentleman who heard of it, and traveled some distance to see it, describes it as follows; It has three stripes, red, white and red, with a blue field on which are thirteen instead of eleven stars. The white stripe is a little wider than the two outside red stripes, it having the names upon it of Hancock and English.

Gored to Death.

CARBONDALE, Penn. Oct. 20.—John Stimpson, sixteen years of age, the only son of a wealthy farmer, was fatally gored to-day by a Jersey bull at the Stimpson farm, near this city. Stimpson was trying to put the bull into a stall, and the animal turned upon him, lacerating his face and head beyond recognition. His death was instantaneous.

A Horrible Deed.

WHEELOCK, Vt., Oct. 20.—Yesterday morning Byron Blake murdered his mother, sister and step-father with a knife and then hung himself. He was insane.

The Lie Direct Resented.

EBENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—A little episode occurred in our politics here yesterday. A crowd got abord the up train on the Allegheny Valley Railroad at Parkers for the convention here. Among the people was Gen. Harry White. When they reached Foxburg the delegation got out. Gen. White happened to go out of the same door with James Mosgrove, who, with Dr. St. Clair, was coming to this point and Clarion. The General saluted Mr. Mosgrove politely, shaking hands with him, and remarking pleasantly, "Come up to our meeting along." Some foul words were then uttered as both parties going out of the door together, when General White said: "I thought we were to have a courteous campaign, Mr. Mosgrove. I invited you to travel with me, but I see you are now taking Doctor St. Clair up here to abuse my dear old father and myself." To which Mr. M. replied: "You have hired that man Ramsey to abuse me." Gen. W. replied: "I beg your pardon; I have not done that. I hire no man to abuse my neighbor." "Yes, you have," said Mr. M. "No," said the General, "I hoped we could avoid scandal and abuse in the campaign." Mr. M. reiterated that White had hired Ramsey to abuse him, and the General again said, "no, I have not." To this Mr. M. angrily replied, "You lie," whereupon General White drew back and struck Mr. M. in the face, saying, "I will allow no man to insult me that way." Mr. M. staggered a little against the side of the car, when some parties interfered and the participants separated. General White was then surrounded by his friends from Parker. He said he regretted the occurrence, but, office or no office, he would allow no man, if he was larger than himself, to insult him in that way. The General's friends who saw it said he did perfectly right to recent such an insult. The General is attending the Republican Convention as if nothing had happened.

Burned to Death.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21.—Shortly after 11 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the shoddy manufactory of Benjamin Ray, Second and Broadway, in such a way as to cut off escape from the third story, where a number of women were at work. The firemen made heroic but ineffectual efforts to rescue the women. After extinguishing the fire they succeeded in extricating the dead bodies of five women.

When the fire broke out there were twenty-eight women and girls in the third story with the forewoman. Twenty girls were in one room with the forewoman, and eight women were in an adjoining room. The forewoman gave the alarm to the girls in her room and they all passed out and down the stairway safely. She then went to the room where the eight women were and gave the alarm also. Two of them followed her down stairs. The other six delayed, it is supposed to change their clothing, until the fire cut off their escape by the stairway. One of them, Mrs. Barrett, jumped out of the window and broke her legs. The other five remained and were burned to death.

Grant on 'Change.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Gen. Grant, escorted by Congressman Morton, visited the Stock Exchange this morning and met with an enthusiastic. He was formally received by a special committee, and introduced to the members by President McKay. His appearance upon the platform was the signal for long-continued cheering, which the General acknowledged by bowing repeatedly. In response to a vociferous demand for a speech he spoke briefly, referring to his former visit to the Exchange, remarking that as he did not like to be where the fighting was going on he had determined not to come again, but had finally been prevailed upon to change his mind. When the General left he was followed by a large crowd who cheered him frequently.

A Public Insult to the President.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—At the time the train with the Presidential party reached Modesta, night before last, a Democratic meeting was in progress about five hundred feet from the depot. One of the speakers expressed great indignation that the music of a band, brought out to welcome the President, should be allowed to interrupt the meeting. When the train arrived a crowd gathered around the platform and cheered for Hancock and Tilden, as well as President Hayes. Several rows ensued and the uproar continued for some time after. At its subsidence the train moved off amid cheers.

Linseed Oil Mills Burned.

PIQUA, O., Oct. 21.—At one o'clock this morning the linseed oil mills of Orr, Leonard & Daniels were totally destroyed by fire. The fire began in the fourth story, and in two hours the fine structure was ruined with its valuable contents. There were 100 bushels of seed and 600 barrels of oil in the building. The loss is estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000, with an insurance of from $75,000 to $90,000, divided among twenty-seven companies. Spontaneous combustion and friction of machinery are theories advanced to explain the origin of the fire.

That Infernal Machine.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—In the case of Robert A. Parrish, a lawyer, charged with concealing an infernal machine in his office drawer, with the intention of putting an end to petty thefts, and by which a boy was badly injured, the jury returned a verdict of guilty. A motion was made for a new trial, and pending argument Parrish was released on bail.

A Terrible Deed Confessed.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 22.—Last night G. A. Wheeler went to the police station and confessed he had murdered his sister-in-law, Della J. Tillson, at a lodging house, and packed her body in a trunk. His statement was at once verified. The circumstances are remarkable. The deceased had been living with her sister and Wheeler, and the latter subjected her to his desires, his wife being cognizant of the fact but concealing the affair to avoid scandal. Latterly a man by the name of George W. Peckham, who became acquainted with the family some time ago at Cisco, Placer county, sought to marry Della. This created jealousy on the part of Wheeler, who yesterday, while Della was sitting on his lap, choked her to death. Wheeler and his family formerly lived in New York.

A School Boy Attempts Suicide.

CINCINNATI, October 22.—George Gohn, fourteen years old, pupil in the fourth intermediate school, shot himself to-day in the school house with a twenty-two calibre pistol, the ball entering the left breast and passing through the lung. He had been reprimanded by Principal Sands for truancy. He says the Principal called him a "sneak" and that was more than he could stand. The wound is not fatal, unless inflamation should follow.

Greenback Nomination.

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 22.—After deliberating for a day and night, E. S. Watson, T. P. Rynder, of Altoona, and one or two others nominated Samuel Calvin, of Hollidaysburg, yesterday for Supreme Judge on the Greenback ticket, in place of F. D. Dewees, resigned. The members of the State committee were slow in responding to the call of Chairman Watson, and the grave duty of making the nomination devolved upon the gentlemen named above.

Naturalization Frauds.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Thomas Seiss, ex-United States deputy marshal, John Johnson and Christian Liebur have been arrested on a charge of conspiracy to obtain fraudulent naturalization papers for Johnson. Liebur approached a man and asked him to procure a witness who would swear knowing a lot of men whom he wanted naturalized. Liebur was held in $10,000 bail. The others were held in the sum of $5,000 each.

A Family Hard to Beat.

TRENTON, Oct. 22.—There is one family of voters here solid for Garfield and Arthur, which probably cannot be beaten. It consists of Daniel R. Bower, father, and his sons, Joseph, Spencer, William, George, Daniel, John, Alfred and Thomas Bower. The latter is 22 years of age. The members of this family are all living in Trenton, and will vote on the 2d day of November the full Republican ticket.

Arrest of a Defaulter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A man has been arrested on the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne road who had with him $250,000 in government bonds and $30,000 in currency. He is supposed to be a government defaulter.

General Foreign Notes.

The Chilian government, in its extremity, proposes to issue six millions of paper money.

The Russian finance minister has decided on a complete revision of the tariff. Higher protective duties will be levied on imported tallow, grain and coal, and the duties on cotton and cotton goods are to be completely revised.

At a military dinner at Evereux Duc de Chartres created a sensation by proposing a toast to France and her government, and to the President of the Republic. The Legitimists consider this is an indirect acceptance by him of the republic. The Duc, in his speech, said that in America, where he passed part of his youth, it was customary to give such loyal toasts before all others.

Things it Would be Funny to See

A plumber and a rich newspaper man.

A bald headed man who never lost his temper.

A circus just to relieve the monotony.

A cromo of the man who invented the dance called "the racket."

A rose without a thorn and a woman without faults.

A patent medicine that wasn't warranted a dead shot for anything, from corns to consumption.

A tarpauline stout enought to keep the rain from soaking through the backs of our milkman's cows.

A man who can rap eternal smash out of his favorite bunion while making a tight croquet and still keep the air brake on his tongue.

The man who wasn't always able and willing to give an editor a few pointers in the newspaper business.

A doctor that hadn't believed all along that Tanner would come out all right.

A Petrified Human Ear.

I was in a lapidary's shop, looking at some curious specimens of rock and crystal.

'If you wish to see something that to you will be a rare curiosity indeed,' said the proprietor of the place, 'look at this.'

As he spoke, he tossed me something that fell upon the counter with a loud, sharp sound, much like that which any ordinary stone would have made.

I picked the object up, turned it over and over in my hand, and examined it with close attention. It was very hard, of a greenish color, containing here and there particles that sparkled brilliantly in the light, and were very likely iron. It was the size and shape of an ordinary human ear. Every part was preserved with marvelous accuracy.

'Well,' said the proprietor, by and bye, 'what do you think of it?'

'I scarcely know what I think of it,' answered I, 'except that it bears a wonderful likeness to a human ear, and whether so formed by an accident of nature, or carved by man, it is remarkable for its fidelity to life.'

He laughed and said:

'Why, the thing actually is a human ear.'

'Impossible!' I exclaimed.

'Not at all,' he replied. 'It is a human ear, petrified.'

And so it proved to be. And further, the gentleman informed me that he quite frequently received, among rocks and stones and crystals in which he dealt, parts of the human body in a state of petrification.

I had often heard of the transformation of flesh into stone—and of wood also, specimens of which I had seen—but never before had I seen it exemplified. A lucid explanation of the change, upon a scientific basis, would certainly be of interest.

I strove to buy the ear afterward, but was so unfortunate as to find that it had already been sold for the paltry sum of fifty cents.—Golden Days.

News and Notes for Women.

A lady has been a member of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church, of Philadelphia, sixty-five years.

Edmund Yates, the English writer, says that the only rival to English womanhood is American womanhood.

Miss Eliza Jane Cate was recently elected a corresponding member of the New Hampshire historical society—the first woman who ever received that honor.

Sixteen Indian girls from the Indian Territory, ranging from sixteen to twenty-five years, have entered Moody's seminary at Northfield, Mass., where they will study for four years and then do missionary work among their own people.

The Philadelphia Herald says that the women of that city are busily engaged in getting up political clubs. They are about two feet long, and only appear on parade when the husbands of the women come home late at night.

A young lady of Kingston, N. Y., belonging to one of the oldest and most aristocratic families, with fine education, superintends a large farm, and is quite successful in its management. She says it is splendid exercise, and her health for that reason is excellent.

Jennie June says that the flirting between the young girls and young men on Broadway and Union square, New York, between three and six o'clock in the afternoon, may, from the freedom with which it is carried on in public, be without wickedness, but that it is characterized by unspeakable vulgarity, which conveys a very bad impression to outsiders.

A young Japanese lady of sixteen, Miss Minei Yabu, daughter of an official in the emperor's household, has arrived in the East from San Francisco. She is a graduate of the English school in Tokio, and will remain three years in America to perfect her education. She is a poet and a landscape painter, and is described as being extremely petite. She has a light complexion, fascinating black eyes and a bright, cheerful countenance.

PARROT IN THE WITNESS BOX.—About six months ago a parrot belonging to the Sisters of St. Boniface Convent disappeared, and was recently found in the possession of Pierre Mallet, who lives on Lapeyrouse street, New Orleans. A demand being made upon him he refused to surrender the bird, claiming that he purchased it, and will not give it up unless paid an extravagant price. The Sisters have therefore instuted a suit in the Second Justice's Court to recover their bird, which they value at on hundred dollars. The parrot speaks German fluently, and its owners claim that they will have no difficulty in proving their property. Upon the trial the bird is to be brought into court to tell what he knows about kidnapping. The bird is well known to the pupils who attend school at the Convent, and it is said that a test of identification will consist in the bird's obedience to a certain sign known only to its rightful owner. The trial of this case promises to be both interesting and amusing.

Three French Catholic priests have recently joined Pere Hyacinthe.

Deadening Pain.

NEW, CURIOUS AND SIMPLE PLAN DISCOVERED.

The last number of the Medical Record contains a notice of a new and curious method of deadening pain which is of striking simplicity. It was discovered by Dr. Bonwell, a dentist of Philadelphia, in 1875. In 1876 Dr. A. Hewson made a favorable report of his experience with it in the International Medical Congress, and at a recent meeting of the Philadelphia County Medical Society several papers were read on the subject and much discussion followed. In using the method the operator merely requests the patient to breathe rapidly, making about 100 respirations per minute, ending in rapid puffing expirations. At the end of from two to five minutes an entire or partial absence of pain results for half a minute or more, and during that time teeth may be drawn or incisions made. The patient may be in any position, but that recommended is lying on the side, and it is generally best to throw a handkerchief over the face to prevent distraction of the patient's attention. When the rapid breathing is first begun the patient may feel some exhilaration; following this comes a sensation of fulness in the head or dizziness. The face is at first flushed, and afterward pale and even bluish, the heart beats rather feebly and fast, but the sense of touch is not affected, nor is consciousness lost. The effect is produced in females more readily than in males, and in the middle-aged more easily than in the old; children can hardly be made to breathe properly. It is denied that there is any possible danger. Several minor operations, other than frequent dental ones, have been successfully made by this method, and it is claimed that in dentistry, minor surgery and obstetrics it may supplant the common anæsthetics. Dr. Hewson's explanation is that rapid breathing diminishes the oxygenation of the blood, and that the resultant excess of carbonic acid temporarily poisons the nerve centers. Dr. Bonwill gives several explanations, one being the specific effect of carbonic acid, another the diversion of will-force produced by rapid voluntary muscular action, and third, the damming up of the blood in the brain, due to the excessive amount of air passing through the lungs. The Record is not satisfied with the theories, but considers it well proved that pain may be deadened by the method, which it commends to the profession for the exact experimental determination of its precise value.

Hot Speech and Cold Type.

It would astonish some of our best orators to see their speeches verbatim et liberatim in the next day's papers. It would disgust them, also; and they would denounce the reporter. Nor would any such reporting be fair to the paper's readers. Only those who know nothing about a reporter's business think he reports just what is said. They don't know that he finishes sentences which the orator, in his hurry and excitement, has left unfinished; that he disentangles metamorphos, suppresses repetitions, corrects bad grammar, remedies slips of the tongue, rectifies errors in names and dates, patches up half-remembered quotations, and the orator, reading his effort in the next day's paper, thinks he did pretty well, and so he did; but there is a great difference between hot speech and cold type, and what would have sounded very well in the former, would have looked anything but well in the latter. Yet the alterations are only just to the reader and to the orator. The only thing we would remark is, that where reporters make one mistake, speakers make a hundred, which the reporter instinctively, or as a mere matter of business, corrects and says nothing about.

A Post Office Romance.

Romances may be developed even in the dull rontine of business in the government department. Complaint was made to the post office authorities by a gentleman that his letters to "Miss O'Leary" were unanswered, and he charged that they had been neglected or missent. Word was sent to the postmaster of the village where the fair addressee resided, to investigate. His report was as follows:

"Respectfully returned, with the information that I yesterday called upon Miss O'Leary, and it is a somewhat sigular fact that she informed me that she had received all three of the letters. I would state further that I was invited by the lady to stay to tea, which invitation I accepted, and had a very fine time, as Miss O'Leary is a very fine young lady and is the very best of company." The complainant in the above case was a rejected lover, whose letters the lady had received with silent contempt. The sequel to the affair was the marriage of the gallant young postmaster and the young lady about four months ago.

A COLORED washerwoman in New York left $80,000 for heirs to quarrel about.

AND ALL THOSE NUMEROUS TROUBLES OF THE STOMACH AND BOWELS SO PREVALENT AT THIS SEASON,

No Remedy known to the Medical Profession has been in use so long and with such uniformly satisfactory results as

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

It has been used with such wonderful success in all parts of the world in the treatment of these difficulties, that it has come to be considered and such it really is when taken in time and according to the very plain directions inclosing each bottle.

AN UNFAILING CURE FOR ALL SUMMER COMPLAINTS.

In such diseases, the attack is usually sudden and frequently very acute; but with a safe remedy at hand for immediate use, there is seldom danger of the fatal result which so often follows a few days' neglect.

The inclination to wait and see if the morrow does not bring a better feeling, not infrequently occasions a vast amount of needless suffering, and sometimes costs a life. A timely dose of Pain Killer will almost invariably save both, and with them the attendant doctor's fee.

It has stood the test of forty years' constant use in all countries and climates, and is perfectly safe in any person's hands.

It is recommended by Physicians, Nurses in Hospitals, and persons of all classes and professions who have had opportunity for observing the wonderful results which have always followed its use.

No family can afford to be without it, and its price brings it within the reach of all.

The use of one bottle will go further to convince you of its merits than columns of newspaper advertising. Try it, and you will never do without it.

Price 25c. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. You can obtain it at any drug-store or from

FARM AND IRON ORE MINE AT ORPHANS' COURT SALE.

WILL BE EXPOSED AT PUBLIC SALE on the premises, by order of the Orphans' Court of Centre county, Pa., on Wednesday, Nov. 10th, 1880,

All that messuage or tract of land known as the

James A. McCalmont Farm

Located in Marion township, Centre county, Pa., about one mile west of Jacksonville and eight miles east of Bellefonte—a first class Nittany Valley farm, bounded by lands of W. W. Beck, Joseph Long, heirs of John Beatty, and heirs of Thomas Huston, deceased, containing about 193 acres, net measure. 140 acres are cleared and in a high state of cultivation, divided into convenient fields under good fences. The balance of the land is covered with thriving timber.

A Good Mansion House,

Two tenement Houses, frame Barn, with other outbuildings, with wells and cisterns convenient.

This farm contains the celebrated IRON ORE BANK known as the McCALMONT ORE, which is of the best quality, analyzing 56 per cent. carbonate of iron, with the smallest trace of phosphorus; in addition to which there are indications of ore of same quality in the fields adjoining, which can be washed from the earth in large quantities. Water ninety feet below the surface.

This farm is located in a good neighborhood, convenient to schools, churches, mills, and within three miles of Howard station on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad, to which the road descends all the way.

Persons wishing to view the property before the day of sale are invited to call on James S. and Robert McCalmont, who reside on the premises.

Sale will begin at 1 o'clock P. M. of said day. TERMS.—One-third of the purchase money to be paid on confirmation of sale, one-third in one year, and the balance in two years thereafter; the two latter payments to be secured by bonds and mortgage on the premises, with interest.

Van Dyke's SULPHUR SOAP

Is superior to all other soaps. It is combined with Sulphur in its pure, unadulterated state, which enters the pores of the skin, being absorbed into the blood through the minute capillaries, and thus acts upon the skin, whether it is healthy or in a diseased condition, both locally and constitutionally, thereby eliminating all impurities from the blood, and exciting the skin to healthy action. It produces a fineness, purity, and freshness of the complexion which is unequalled, and can be produced by no other means. No toilet, nursery or bath room is complete without it. It makes the skin pure, clear, white and healthy; is cleansing, deodorizing, disinfecting, soothing, healing and purifying; removes dandruff, chafing, ulcers, sores, eruptions, roughness and redness of the skin; relieves itching, burning and stinging of the skin, and irritation of biting and stinging insects; will relieve itching piles when nothing else will have any effect. Ask for VAN DYKE'S SULPHUR SOAP; insist upon it, and take no imitation. Sold by druggists. Aschenbach & Miller, proprietors, 301 Callowhill street, Philadelphia. 12-20-1y 35

—Several of our exchanges favor the whipping post for tramps.

—Wanted—Potatoes, butter, eggs, and lard at Valentines' stores.

—The Republican camp-fires are burning brightly in every part of the county.

—Depot Master Potter has been slightly "under the weather" for a few days past.

—Osceola has been selected as the next meeting place of the Huntingdon Presbytery.

—Close up the ranks, boys, and press onward. One more boom and the victory is ours.

—Mr. Edward Graham is making a number of improvements about his Linn street property.

—Hallow 'en falls on Sunday this year. The young folks will probably celebrate on Saturday.

—Rev. J. Benson Akers, of Penn Hall, has been on a visit to his mother in Fulton county.

—Hons. A. G. Curtin and C. T. Alexander talked to the Lewistown Democrats on Saturday night.

—Roll up your sleeves, Republicans, and work with a will for the whole ticket from now until election day.

—Remember that 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' will do all they claim for it. Try a bottle. Read the advertisement.

—Now, then, prepare for a cold winter.—[Ex. Certainly. We always prepare for that kind of a one.

—Next Friday will be Democrat day in Bellefonte, but the Tuesday following will be Republican day all over the country.

—We hear that a young lady named Apt, living near Hublersburg, fell from a chestnut tree recently and sustained serious injuries.

—Glassware and Queensware—a new and elegant assortment just arrived. Glass sets, 4 pieces, only 30 cents, at Valentines' stores.

—After November 1st the second-class freight agencies at Fowler and Eagleville, on the B. E. V., will be discontinued until further notice.

—The railroad men on the B. E. V. are overrun with work, and have been for several weeks past. The freight business, both ways, continues heavy.

—Owing to the rainy weather the curb market on Saturday was slim. But four or five wagons were in and meat was about the only article of produce offered.

—Political discussions, hot and hearty, are now heard on every side. Every politician, Democrat or Republican, knows exactly who's going to be elected and all about it.

—Our "cooler" hasn't had an occupant for several days past, and the streets have been remarkably free from rows. May this desirable state of affairs continue to exist.

—Vote for S. D. Ray, Esq., for District Attorney, and help defeat the candidate of the Court House ring. Mr. Ray is an able young lawyer, and if elected will fill the office faithfully and well.

—An enthusiastic exchange says, "Republicans are coming to the front this year in large numbers from places least expected." Yes, even in Indiana the woods are full of 'em.

—The political campaign is having a disastrous effect on the show business this season. Several companies have gone to pieces in towns surrounding Bellefonte during the past week.

—The Elk county Gazette predicts a walk-over for Curtin in that county. According to reports from Clearfield, Union and Centre the ex-Governor needs some of that kind of help from Elk.

—Our weighty Greenback friend, John Dawson, thinks Weaver'll come out all right, yet, and so he will. He'll come out of the canvass so far behind, John, as to be out of reach of even a stray shot.

—We feel it our duty to once more call the attention of our lady friends to the fact that leap-year is whirling swiftly by—but a little over two months is left for them in which to exercise their rights,

—A correspondent from Fulton county says the Republicans in that section are wide-awake and enthusiastic. Although the county is Democratic the Republicans confidently expect to reduce the majority considerably at the coming election.

ROUSING REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The Greatest Republican Demonstration ever Witnessed in Milesburg.

The efforts of the Boggs township Republicans to get up a demonstration eclipseing all former attempts culminated on Saturday night in the grandest and most enthusiastic Republican rally that staid old town has witnessed in many a year, which all goes to prove that the Republicans of Boggs are fully alive to the important issues involved in this campaign.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather, sharp, biting winds and muddy streets, the turnout of clubs, both at home and from adjoining towns, was highly creditable, and the parade, in which were 400 men, a gratifying success.

The Garfield Guards and colored Garfield Club of Bellefonte, with the Mountain City Band, went down by special train and were received at the depot by the Milesburg Club under Marshal Austin Curtin.

The Guards were escorted to the post of honor at the head of the column, the other clubs falling in behind. The organization moved in the following order:

Chief Marshal and Aids.
Mountain City Band, Bellefonte.
Garfield Guards, Bellefonte.
Colored Garfield Club, Bellefonte.
Pleasant Gap Band.
Unionville Club.
Zion Cornet Band.
Milesburg Garfield and Arthur Club.

As the procession entered the town the bands struck up, flags and banners were unfurled and the crowds on the sidewalks cheered lustily and waved their hats in the air. The route of parade was lengthy and tedious, owing to the disagreeable condition of the streets, but the men marched well, nevertheless, and maintained good order throughout.

The streets over which the parade passed were ablaze with illuminations, the display on a number of buildings being strikingly brilliant. Perhaps, the most conspicious was the Franklin House, which was a glare of light from basement to garret. The building is four stories high, and on one side alone 120 candles sent forth their gleams of light. The residences of P. B. Else, Jonathan Bullock, E. J. Seraverly, Z. D. Miles, P. H. Myers, C. H. Else, Robert Shirk, L. T. Eddy and many others, were attractively illuminated and added much to the general effect. We noticed a number of dwellings away off in the outskirts of the town handsomely lighted up with candles and lamps, from which we infer that the occupants were desirous of showing, in this pleasing manner, their allegiance to the Republican party and its principles.

The parade was dismissed before the Republican club house, in which the speeches of the evening were delivered. The building was promptly filled by an intelligent and enthusiastic audience, among which was a fair sprinkling of ladies. It has been said that the Republican standard bearers have many admirers among the fair sex of Milesburg, and their presence on this occasion was eminently fitting.

Marshal Curtin called the large audience to order and nominated the following officers: President, J. C. P. Jones; Vice Presidents, Geo. Taylor, Geo. Fleck, Zeb. White, John Delany, Elijah Fisher, Benj. Shepley, Hugh Sharp, Thos. Miles, T. R. Bathurst, Jacob Yarnell, Wm. Wooomer, David Kline; Secretaries, Joseph A. Rogus, Irvin Morris, W. O. Vanvalin and E. L. Gray.

On taking the chair President Jones made a few opening remarks, brief but to the point, and introduced A. O. Furst, Esq., as the first speaker. Mr. Furst, as everyone knows, who has heard him discuss political matters, is one of our ablest local speakers, and when we say that he fully sustained his reputation on this occasion those who were not present well know that the issues involved in the canvass were presented in a plain but forcible manner, and the now desperate leaders of the opposition severely rebuked for the malicious course they are at present pursueing. No matter, he said, to what practices the Democracy resort to injure the chances of the Republican candidate, it will avail them not; "the child is born and his name is James—he will be christened on Tuesday next."

In the course of his remarks on the tariff question, Mr. Furst said he would give $100 to any Democrat who would carry a transparency bearing the inscription, "A tariff for revenue only," in the Democratic parade announced to take place here next Friday, because, he said, it would result in making 10,000 Republican votes in Pennsylvania. No one who has watched the progress of the campaign will doubt the truthfulness of this assertion, and whether the Democrats will take up the offer remains to be seen.

Mr. C. U. Arnold, of Curwensville, was the next speaker called to the stand. Considering the difficulties he labored under, being afflicted with a severe cold, his speech was creditable and well received. He said that there was no longer any doubt but that the party of right and justice would triumph in November; that the main thing to do now is to make the majority overwhelming. He told his audience that Coffee Pot Wallace was doomed to step to the rear at no distant day, which intelligence was received with a loud cheer. He also assured his Republican friends that Clearfield would do her duty at the coming election, and hoped that old Centre would not do less.

Loud calls were made for James Milliken, Esq., who responded with one of the ablest speeches of the evening. His remarks were eloquently delivered and brought forth repeated outbursts of applause. Mr. Milliken confined himself principally to the tariff question, on which he is thoroughly conversant. He turned the tariff plank of the Cincinnati platform inside out, if we may be allowed the phrase, and showed up the defects and dangers in such a lucid manner that no laboring man present could fail to understand. Mr. Milliken said he was not a candidate for office and was not engaged in any kind of business, but advocated the keeping in power of the Republican party, because in his judgment, the prosperity of the country demanded it.

The last speaker was Col. D. H. Hastings, who never fails to please a Republican audience. He seemed to be in a particularly happy frame of mind on this occasion, and illustrated his arguments with spicy anecdotes, which kept his hearers in a continual uproar. In conclusion the Colonel called upon the audience to rise, take off their hats and give three rousing cheers for Garfield and Arthur and the whole ticket. The audience promptly responded, and such a cheer went up as to threaten the stability of the building. The meeting lasted about two hours, during which time the crowd hung together to a man.

Much credit for the success of the demonstration is due Messrs. L. T. Eddy and Capt. Austin Curtin, both hard working and enthusiastic Republicans, and under whose able leaderships the Republicans of Boggs are marching to victory.

A Manufacturer Speaks.

One of the most brilliant meetings which has been held during the campaign took place at Howard on Thursday evening. Delegations were present from Milesburg, Curtin's iron works, Mount Eagle, and Marion and Liberty townships. A flag was raised at the Howard iron works under the supervision of Bernard Lauth, Esq., who headed the delegation of three hundred torches and marched from the furnace to the village of Howard, where another flag was unfurled. The houses at the works and those of the village were brilliantly illuminated.

The meeting was organized by electing Mr. Lauth president. A. O. Furst, Esq., made the opening speech of the evening, which was well received. Mr. Furst was followed by Mr. Lauth. Among other things he said he had recently contracted for an engine for a new furnace on the assurance that Garfield would be our next President—that his well at his ore mines is down five hundred feet at present, and he would sink it a thousand if necessary to get water in the event of Garfield's election, after which he proposes to make Howard blaze.

New Locomotive on the B. & S. S.

The Bellefonte and Snow Shoe railroad Company placed a brand new passenger and freight engine on the road Saturday—No. 6—to run between here and Snow Shoe. It was built at the Baldwin Locomotive Works, in Philadelphia, and is a fine looking piece of machinery. The engine is of about twenty eight tons burden and of sufficient power to haul from fifteen to twenty loaded cars up the mountain. It is built very much after the style of engine No. 5, with the exception that the drive wheels are not so high by several inches. An official of the road informed us that long experience has demonstrated to the Company that more hauling power can be obtained from low drive wheels than those standing high on the rails, hence the new engine was made in accordance with that principle.

To the Greenback National Labor Party of Centre County.

Having received declinations from all the nominees on our county ticket, and the county convention having given me no power to put on substitutes, there will therefore be no regular Greenback county ticket in the contest. There will still be the Electoral and State ticket to vote for.

Local Campaign Notes.

Extensive preparations are under way for the Democratic "walk-around" next Friday, although, we are informed, Forney and one or two other of the floppers who were invited to be present have not been heard from. The "Demies" evidently intend to die hard and kick vigorously in their death struggles.

S. D. Gray and A. A. Dale, Esqrs. addressed an enthusiastic Republican meeting at the Branch school house in College township on Saturday night. The meeting was a large one for that locality, and we are informed that the speeches were able and well received.

John G. Love, Esq., is making a stumping tour through Pennsvalley. He is a popular and entertaining speaker and is greeted everywhere with large and enthusiastic audiences.

'Squire Klinger accompanied the Veterans to Milesburg on Saturday night and tramped through the mud with as much unconcern as anybody. The 'Squire don't allow mud or anything else to interfere with his patriotism.

S. D. Ray, Esq., our candidate for District Attorney, addressed a large and attentive Republican meeting at Tusseyville on Saturday evening. Notwithstanding the house was packed full the best of order prevailed and the closest attentton was paid the speaker. We have never had the pleasure of attending a meeting addressed by Mr. Ray, but are informed that he makes an admirable speech and never fails to win applause.

At the Club Room.

There was a lively meeting at the Republican club room Monday night. We looked in on the jolly crowd for a few moments and found the room packed full like sardines in a box. Every one present seemed in remarkably good spirits and expressed their jubilant feelings over the assured victory in November in snatches of patriotic songs, stump speaking and hurrahs and cheers for Garfield and Arthur, the State and county ticket and everybody in general.

The principal object of the meeting was to decide whether or no the club should accept an invitation to visit Philipsburg or Huntingdon during this week to take part in a Republican demonstration. As there is not sufficient time remaining to perfect arrangements for visiting the latter place the invitation was not accepted. A committee was appointed to confer with the officers in regard to the Philipsburg trip and report at the Wednesday night meeting.

—Before the next issue of the REPUBLICAN reaches our subscribers James A. Garfield will have been elected President of the United States.

Rally at Fowler.

Our Fowler correspondent writes: A spirited Republican mass meeting was held in this township (Fowler) on Saturday afternoon at the Anderson school house. John F. Fowler, Esq., delivered a long and able speech full of facts and plain, business like talk and argument. He spoke strongly in favor of protective tariff and presented the claims of the Republican party to the continuance and management of the affairs of the country in a very plain and forcible manner. He was unanimously requested to deliver another speech this coming week to which he assented.

—A petrified woman has been discovered near Cascade Lake, Nev. An Italian fisherman was going out to fish at the time, and when pushing off his boat struck against something which attracted his attention. He investigated the matter and found a petrified hand protruding from the sand and pebbles an the beach. In a short time he had unearthed a woman in a complete state of petrification. It was small in size, brown in color, and scraway and emaciated. The petrification had a hideous appearance, and the body originally must have belonged to a shrivelled, sickly woman. The left breast was well developed, but the arms and legs were not much larger than the bones would have been, and the fingers of the right hand were gone. The petrification weighed nearly 200 pounds.

The above is indeed a wonderful discovery, but the people of Centre long since made the discovery that Sechler & Co. sell the freshest and purest groceries of any firm in this section. These goods always give satisfaction, which accounts for their tremendous patronage.

—Every man in Centre county who desires to be faithfully represented in the Legislature should vote for John P. Harris, an honest and capable man, and who will serve the best interests of the people.

—Our smokers say they find comfort in a good cigar, and if that is the case they should buy their cigars of Harry Green, who keeps the very best in the market.

HALFMOON NEWS.

Bold Robbery—Politics—Some of the "Watchman's" Lies Nailed.

The latest sensation Halfmoon has had since the big Republican gathering on the 19th, was the robbing of Jerry Way's house in daylight on last Thursday. The facts are as follows: During the day the hired girl told Mrs. Way that she thought she heard some one up-stairs; but no heed was taken of it until they had occasion to go to that portion of the house, when to their surprise they found the bureau drawers had been ransacked. The thief had climbed up the porch pillar and effected an entrance by means of the window, and getting $17 for his trouble.

The Garfield boom is booming. It is amusing to see crestfallen Democrats shaking their heads and fists and cracking their heels together these frosty morning, particularly those who said Indiana would decide who would be the next President. The Hancock flag has not yet been run up here, which looks as though something was wrong. I heard a gentleman from Philadelphia say the night of the meeting that he didn't know we had such good speakers in Centre county. I heard the Methodist minister of this place say before the nomination at Cincinnati that he hoped the Democrats would not take up Hancock, for he had met him, and he was nothing but a profane old whisky tub. Will he vote for him?

I see by the Watchman that our meeting here on the 19th was a "fizzle." Not much, unless the largest meeting ever held in Stormstown can be termed a fizzle. It says we carried 71 lamps, the lying sheet. Port Matilda carried 69 lamps, Halfmoon carried 40, and many from College, Huston and other places also carried lamps. I would just mention here that we were short of lamps. We sent to Philadelphia for 200, but could not get them. As for the number of people it is admitted by al' that the crowd reached 500, notwithstanding the rain and snow. There were more lamps out than the Hancock Legion had the same night. It makes an allowance for the bad weather for the Legion but none for us. We had no "chariot," it says. Well, we had a wagon handsomely decorated with spruce and drawn by four horses, with 21 young ladies bearing torches and banners representing the different States that will go for Garfield and Arthur next Tuesday, and we had printed on the side of that wagon, "Did you hear from Indiana?" It says our big speakers did not come, when Furst, Hastings, Keller, Tuten, Harris and Henderson were there. Does it call those small men either in body or mind? Besides they are all gentlemen and truthful men. It might have mentioned that we had no band or drum corps, and then the lie would have been complete; but we had a band, a brass band, a Republican band from Lemont—the best band in Centre county. We had two drum corps, good drum corps at that. We held two meetings at a time and both Republican meetings, and both buildings crowded, and we will show you the result of the meeting next Tuesday.

Our meeting was a success in every way. 'Tis true we didn't have 400 torches, because we couldn't get them, and I don't think the Watchman has any right to say otherwise. I heard a Democrat of this place say that he was astonished at such a downright, bare-faced untruth. But those who know the editor have ceased to be astonished at anything it publishes.

CORPORAL.

—The recent election in Indiana showed that a large majority of the people in that State are in favor of the Republican party. And a trip through Centre county will convince any one that a large majority of the people are in favor of purchasing their groceries of Sechler & Co., who keep none but the genuine and freshest, and sell at reasonable prices.

—The Third Quarterly meeting for Penn's Valley Circuit will be held in the M. E. Church, at Centre Hall, October 30-31. Rev. P. B. Else, of Milesburg, is expected to conduct the Sabbath services in the absence of the Presiding Elder. The business conference will be held on Saturday at 2.30 p. m. All are cordially invited

—Republicans, vote the straight-out Republican ticket, and scratch not at all. Every man on the ticket is a staunch Republican, with a clear record, and well worthy your support. Vote the whole ticket.

—James Milliken, Esq., left Monday for Philadelphia, intending to be absent until Saturday, during which time he will fulfill an engagement to speak at Lewistown and at one or two other points.

—Monday evening's train from Snow Shoe brought in three large deer, the heaviest weighing 172lbs minus the head and antlers, the largest that has been shot in this section this year.

—Centre county sportsmen who are not meeting with much success this season had better shelve their shooting irons and pattern after the Blair county boy who has discovered an ingenious and successful way of capturing squirrels, dead or alive, without gun or ammunition. His outfit consists of a set of climbers such as are used by telegraph repairers, a sheath knife, pack of fire-crackers, box of matches and a dog. The dog holds the game. The young man puts on his climbers, and goes up to the hole in the tree, lights a fire-cracker and drops it into the hole. When it explodes the frightened squirrel rushes out into a bag held over the hole, or if he wishes to kill it he strikes its head off with the sheath knife; if he misses his aim and the squirrel leaps to the ground the dog soon finishes it. By this novel contrivance he often brings in from ten to twenty squirrels a day.

—At the Tuesday night meeting of the I. O. of O. F., the following officers were installed for the ensuing term of six months:

N. G., John I. Rankin; V. G., J. C. Brachbill; S., H. B. Pontius; A. S., Henry Beck; T., H. H. Benner; R. S., H. C. Weaver. L. S., Isaac Miller; W., W. B. Rankin; C., R. A. Baird; R. S. S., H. C. Schroyer; L. S. S., Isaac Haupt; O. G., B. Galbraith; I. G., W. H. Miller; R. S., S. H. Griffith; L. S., W. E. Miller.

—The long and honorable business record of Mr. Horace Waters, of New York City, is sufficient guarantee of the integrity of the firm of which he is the head, and, while competition has brought down the prices of pianos and organs very low—within the means of everybody—purchasers may be certain of being fairly dealt with by this house. Their advertisement may be found in another column.

—A beautiful assortment of gloves, hosiery, ribbons, and all kinds of notions always to be found at the Bee Hive.

Garfield had a little gun,

Deschner still has a few of the same kind of guns.

—Dr. Isaac Strong, the well known humanitarian of Pine, Clinton county, says the Gazette and Bulletin, is preparing to circulate a petition praying for imprisonment for life in the case of Mrs. Miller, instead of execution on the scaffold. He claims that she is weak in her mind and almost incapable of discerning between right and wrong, and really did not assist in the tragedy.

—The Milton Argus says that the town council of that place hold secret sessions and will not permit the presence of reporters. Possibly there is a conspiracy on foot to blow up the town. This is merely a supposition.

—A well-digger can secure a job by applying to Theodore Deschner, Gunsmith, High street, Bellefonte, Pa.

—The many friends of Miss Ada Tonner will be pained to learn of her death, which sad event occurred on Sunday at her home in Canton, Ohio. She had been ill but a short time, and her death was very unexpected.

—Wanted—a well-digger. Apply to Theodore Deschner, gun maker, High street, Bellefonte, Pa.

—Wheat! Wheat!—Cash paid for wheat at Valentines' stores. Wanted—10,000 bushels. Call and inquire the price.

—It will pay you to examine the fine line of gents' underwear at the Bee Hive.
